TRANSPORTATION

FROM KLIA & KLIA 2

KLIA Express train is a premium high-speed airport transfer service to KLIA and KLIA 2 from KL Sentral that runs from 5AM to 12PM everyday. The KLIA Express will only take 35 to 40 minutes from the city centre to KLIA and KLIA 2 respectively. The fare for a one way trip only costs RM55. You will also get 25% of normal fares if you travel if you purchase the Group Saver Package. Besides that, the Airport Coach bus will cost around RM10 and operating hours are from 12.30 AM to 11.30 PM.

The Aero bus runs every 5 to 20 minutes all year round from early morning until late at night. You can hop on the bus from KL Sentral to KLIA or KLIA 2 and back to the city center. The operating hours are from 6.45AM until 6.45PM and fare starts from RM14. It provides a 5-star low-cost service and it offers a discount for 10%.

Apart from that, taxis are quite expensive if you are traveling to the airport from the city centre. The fare starts from RM80 and when you are traveling with your family, it's around RM 200. Grab would also cost from RM 65 and with family it's around RM200 for 40 to 45 minutes. Although grab is more convenient and comfortable, it can be quite expensive during peak hours.

FROM SUBANG SKYPARK TERMINAL

SKYPARK Link trains transport passengers from KL Sentral to Subang Airport. It's a limited express train service in Kuala Lumpur. It only costs RM10 from Subang Airport to Kuala Lumpur city.

FROM PENANG INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

Flights from Penang Airport to Kuala Lumpur International Airport or Subang Airport will approximately take an hour with a fare ranging from RM70 to RM650.

Apart from that, using the bus is the cheapest option to travel to KL, with a fare that starts from RM50 to RM60. However, the duration for each trip from Penang to KL will be around 7 to 8 hours. Driving from Penang to Kuala Lumpur will take around 4 to 5 hours depending on traffic.

FROM KOTA KINABALU INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

Flights from Kota Kinabalu International Airport (KKIA) to KLIA Airport, the flight journey approximately takes 2 hours 25 minutes and the fare starts from RM380 to RM1380.

Besides that, the duration of flights from Kota Kinabalu to Subang Airport is around 2 hours 25 minutes.

FROM LANGKAWI INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

There are flights available from Langkawi International Airport to Kuala Lumpur International Airport that will take approximately 1 hour 10 minutes. The starting fare for the flights ranges from RM160 to RM 200. Other than that, flights traveling from Langkawi to Subang Airport will only take around 58 minutes to reach the destination.

By taking a bus to Kuala Lumpur from Langkawi, the bus fare starts from RM118 to RM176 for each person, including a ferry ride to the island.

FROM KUCHING INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

Flights from Kuching International Airport to KLIA will have a duration of approximately 2 hours 44 minutes. The Kuching International Airport is located 11KM south of Kuching city center. The flights that offer trips to KL are Air Asia, Malindo Air and Malaysia Airlines. Moreover, flights from Kuching to Subang Airport have a duration of 2 hours 35 minutes with a starting fare from RM289 to RM581.

ALTERNATIVE WAY TO KL CITY CENTER

1 Express Train

One of the fastest ways to travel from the airport to the city center is by the express train which takes approximately 28 minutes. However, the price for each ticket is quite expensive.

The fare for a one way trip only costs RM55. You will also get 25% off normal fares if you travel if you purchase the Group Saver Package which is RM120 for 2 adults and 2 children for one way.

The express train travels between International Airports both KLIA & KLIA 2 to KL Sentral. You may purchase the train tickets online or head to its main station at KL Sentral. The service provides a free porter service at respective platforms and also high speed WIFI on board.

2 Bus

Buses are undoubtedly the cheapest mode of transportation to get from both the airports to the city and vice versa. They are relatively safe and fairly comfortable, and made up of a fleet of 44 seated air-conditioned coaches.

The fare for each bus journey is quite affordable, which is from RM12 to RM15 per pax, depending on your pick-up station. The journey duration to and from the airport to the respective bus station may vary. However, the standard travel time is approximately 1 hour 15 minutes.

3 Taxi

Taxis are actually still available in Malaysia even though they are not commonly used these days as they are quite costly when compared to E-hailing services.

Hence, most locals avoid using taxis due to their high rates and non-standardized transportation. If passengers have no other choice, then it is advisable to ask the taxi driver beforehand if they can use the provided meter to get to a specific destination in order to avoid high fares.

The fare is usually RM3 for the first 1km, and RM0.20 will be added to the fare for every subsequent of 150 meters.

4 E- Hailing Service

E-hailing services are considered one of the most popular transportations in Malaysia today. The E-hailing service is commonly used by both locals and visitors due to its high reliability and easy access through its user-friendly mobile app, making it one of the fastest ways to get to a specific destination if there is no heavy traffic involved.

One of the best reasons to use the E-hailing service is the fares that are fixed and are displayed even before you make a booking in order for you to prepare the specific amount.

Passengers are also usually covered with accident insurance the moment they enter a car provided through the E-hailing service.

INTRODUCTION TO Kuala Lumpur

Malaysia's capital city, Kuala Lumpur, is known for its stunning skyscrapers and other rich modern architecture that are found across the city. As we all know, Malaysia is a culturally diverse country, hence KL city comprises various cultural places for you to visit. Kuala Lumpur is the largest city in Malaysia, which is made up of approximately 243 square kilometres.

It is also considered as one of Southeast Asia's urban districts that is economically growing as well as a rapid increase in population. It is currently the ninth most visited city in the world.

As of 2021, Kuala Lumpur is home to roughly 2.0 million people, which is 25% of Malaysia's total population. Kuala Lumpur's annual population change has gradually increased by 2.2% from 2010 to 2020.

The city is situated close to the western coast of Peninsular Malaysia and also located at the confluence of the Gombak and Klang Rivers. It is about 40 kilometres east of the Strait of Malacca and also 300 kilometres north-west of Singapore. Apart from that, it is located in the centre of the Selangor state.

Did you know that the name Kuala Lumpur translates to "muddy estuary" in Malay? This is because KL city is where the Klang and Gombak rivers meet.

One of Malaysia's three Federal Territories, besides Putrajaya and Labuan, the Federal Territory of Kuala Lumpur is located inside the state of Selangor's central west coast. Throughout the years, KL has hosted various international events including sporting, political, and cultural events, and most notably the 1998 Commonwealth Games as well as the 2017 Sea Games.

Last but not least, the Gross Domestic Product (GDP) in Malaysia has expanded 5.0% underpinned by stronger domestic demand during the first quarter of 2022 and is expected to gain 320.00 USD Billion by the end of 2022. From January to March 2022, the monthly economic performance showed better growth. The GDP performance had grown 4.3% in January 2022, risen to 5.2% and 5.4% in February and March 2022 respectively. The current economic standing shows that the economic performance during the first quarter of 2022 has surpassed the level of the quarter of 2019 by 5.2%, which is RM17.9 billion.

Fun Facts

1. Istana Negara

The Istana Negara, located along Jalan Tuanku Abdul Halim in Segambut, is the official residence of the monarch of Malaysia, which is Yang di-Pertuan Agong. Did you know that the palace was originally a mansion owned by a Chinese millionaire? The palace was opened in the year 2011 and had replaced the old Istana Negara that was located at a different compound in the centre of KL. If you are in KL, grab your chance to visit the Istana Negara and head to the Royal Museum and take a look at the former royal living quarters!

2. Batu Caves

Batu Caves, one of Malaysia's top tourist attractions, is located 13 kilometers to the north of Kuala Lumpur. The temple is said to be guarded by the Hindu deity Lord Murugan as its monumental statue is quite tall. There are a series of limestone caves and cave temples here. Besides, the colourful staircase at Batu Caves is the best place to take Instagrammable photos. This also shows how culturally diverse Malaysia is.

3. Istana Budaya (Cultural Palace)

The Istana Budaya's architecture is quite unique which is based on the concept of several aspects of the Malay culture. It was officially opened in 1999 as Malaysia's National Performing Arts Theatre. This is where cultural events such as classical music concerts, local and international theatre, traditional local music, dance performances, international and local operas and many more are held.

4. Petronas Twin Towers

The architect of the Petronas Twin Towers chose a post modern design to create this iconic building. However, the glass facade of the towers was designed to resemble Islamic motifs, which reflects Malaysian culture. It has the world's tallest sky bridge that connects the two towers on the 41st and 42nd floor. The twin towers are not the tallest building in Malaysia anymore as there is another new tallest building opening in 2023.

5. National Mosque

The national mosque, built in 1963, is a national legacy. Its architecture is magnificent as the architect did an amazing job designing every inch of the mosque both interior and exterior. There are arabesque patterns that are seen in the detailing throughout the mosque which includes the correct patterns of design proportions of the Islamic Geometric decorations. You could even see the ultimate design element of modern mid-century architecture throughout the mosque.

6. Merdeka 118 Tower

Did you know that the Merdeka 118 Tower is the second tallest building in the world? It is the new tallest building in Malaysia, with a height of 678.9 metres with 118 storeys. It is called Merdeka 118 as it has 118 floors in the building. The building is said to be opened in 2023. The design of the building was resembled and inspired by Tunku Abdul Rahman's outstretched hand gesture when he was chanting 'Merdeka!' during Malaysia's independence day.

7. KL Tower

The KL Tower has the best panoramic view of the city from its sky deck. They also offer a new attraction which is The Tower Walk 100 where you get to walk 100 feet above the ground; there is also another option where you can walk along a glass-transparent platform with a crack sound effect as you make your move. Besides, there's also a revolving restaurant to dine in KL Tower that is 282 metres above ground.

8. KLCC Park

The lush KLCC Park is an urban park that lies within the Kuala Lumpur City Centre. It is the best place to go for a jog as well as strolling around the park while enjoying the beautiful landscape as the park has a paved jogging track of about 1.3 km and many interconnecting shorter walkways for the public.

9. IOI City Mall

Did you know that the IOI City Mall, located in Putrajaya, is the largest mall in Malaysia? It has surpassed 1 Utama Shopping Centre as the largest mall today, with its Phase II that was recently opened in August 2022. The mall has more than 700 retail stores in it including various indoor activities that you can do.

10. Bukit Bintang

Bukit Bintang is a busy thoroughfare that comprises malls and luxe fashion boutiques in the heart of KL city. There are al fresco bars and live music clubs along the Changkat Bukit Bintang street, while Jalan Alor is a lively street known for various food stalls serving local cuisines like clam soup and buttered prawns.

HISTORY OF Kuala Lumpur

The name Kuala Lumpur, which in Malay means “muddy confluence,” was established when tin miners went to the Klang river in Ampang to prospect the area for some mine and they took advantage of the dual valleys of the rivers Gombak and Klang. Hence, the name Kuala Lumpur was born. Here is an insight on the history of Kuala Lumpur in chronological order.

1857 87 tin miners went to prospect the area of Kuala Lumpur for some rich sources of tin then found huge reserves of it in Ampang.

1887 Kuala Lumpur became the capital town in the state of Selangor.

1862 Kuala Lumpur began to grow rapidly and new miners from other places came to the area and settled down. As a result of the increase in population, there were many conflicts and gang wars among the people.

1896 Kuala Lumpur was chosen as the capital of the Federated Malay States after the uniting of the Sultans of four states.

1869 Yap Ah Loy was the leader of the Chinese community in Kuala Lumpur and decided to introduce law and order in Kuala Lumpur. He was also the first to establish the first school in Kuala Lumpur as well as a destitute refuge.

1910 The first railway station in Kuala Lumpur was rebuilt and designed by the most prolific and talented of the British colonial architects called Arthur Benison Hubback.

1880 British representative, Frank Sweetenham, had developed a city plan to modernize the town of Kuala Lumpur.

1942 The city came under Japanese occupancy during World War II.

1963 Kuala Lumpur then became the capital city of Malaysia.

1969 There was a conflict between the Malay and Chinese which caused a full-fledged civil war to break out.

1972 Kuala Lumpur was awarded city status, making it the first town in Malaysia to do so after independence.

1963 Kuala Lumpur then became the capital city of Malaysia.

1974 Kuala Lumpur owned its status as Federal Territory with its own government for itself.

1960 The increase of population in KL grew to about half a million and brought along KL its own set of administrative issues.

1981 Thanks to the then Prime Minister, Dr Mahathir, his 'Vision 2020' had transformed the country into a modern one, especially Kuala Lumpur.

1957 After 151 years of British rule, Malaysia celebrated its Independence Day on the 31st of August and the British agreed to leave the country.

1999 The federal administrative capital of Malaysia was then moved to Putrajaya.

1946 Kuala Lumpur then became the capital in the Federation of Malaya.

5 TIPS EVERY TRAVELER SHOULD KNOW BEFORE VISITING

Kuala Lumpur

Here are five tips every traveler that is planning to visit Kuala Lumpur should take note:

1. Malaysia is a dazzling diverse country

Brace yourself as you will be culture shocked; Kuala Lumpur is multi-ethnic but largely Islamic, with a majority of Malay Muslims living there alongside ethnic Chinese, Tamil Indians, and a dozen indigenous communities known as 'orang asli'. This implies that mosques, churches and Hindu temples coexist alongside red lantern-adorned Chinese temples. There are three major languages that are spoken in KL such as Bahasa Malaysia, Mandarin, and Tamil.

2. Pack outfits that are suitable for hot weathers

All year long, Malaysia's tropical region experiences sweltering temperatures of an average 30°C. A pair of sneakers and flip-flops are all you actually need to bring to deal with the heat and humidity, along with lightweight, loose-fitting cotton clothing. Pack a hoodie or lightweight jacket as well to be prepared for Malaysians' propensity for maintaining the air conditioning at chilly locations, particularly in buses, trains, and shopping malls. Prepare to bring an umbrella anywhere you go as well, because the rain here is unexpected.

3. Partying is a bit more expensive

Although there are numerous bars and clubs around KL city, you might have to spend a lot more money than you expect to. Due to high taxation on alcohol, which is prohibited to Muslims, Malaysia is a more costly party destination when compared to its neighbouring countries like Thailand, Cambodia, and Vietnam. While beer is typically only offered at Chinese-owned establishments in smaller towns, alcohol is easily accessible in popular tourist destinations like Kuala Lumpur, George Town, Ipoh, Melaka, and Johor Bahru. A trip to the tax-free islands of Langkawi and Tioman is the best remedy for exorbitant drink and cigarette prices.

4. Public Display of Affection is prohibited

In Malaysia generally speaking and not just in KL, public displays of affection are discouraged. Holding hands and a quick peck on the cheek is fine, but amorous embraces are prohibited in public. If you want to get intimate with your partner, it's best to keep it private.

5. Drug offenses can get you to the gallows

Avoid using drugs in Malaysia, where possession of 40g of cocaine, 15g of heroin or morphine, or 200g of cannabis carries the death penalty. Possibly for carrying much less, offenders face exceptionally harsh consequences or even jail time. If you are caught just holding it, even if you are doing someone a favour, you will be fined as well.

Iconic Landmarks

Petronas Twin Towers

The Petronas Towers is a 88-storey supertall skyscraper in Kuala Lumpur. It is also known as KLCC Twin Towers. They held the record for tallest structures in the world from 1998 until 2004 as it was surpassed by other taller buildings in other countries. However, it is still the tallest twin tower in the world at 451.9 meters. It is still one of Malaysia's famous icons which looks tremendously stunning especially at night.

National Monument

The Malayan Emergency and the Japanese occupation of Malaysia during World War II, which lasted from 1948 to 1960, are the two main causes of the deaths that the National Monument honors. It was built to commemorate those who have sacrificed themselves for their country. The National Monument is located in the Federal Territory of Kuala Lumpur.

Address: Perdana Botanical Garden, Jalan Parlimen, Kuala Lumpur City Center, 50480 Kuala Lumpur, Federal Territory of Kuala Lumpur.
Operating Hours: 7.00 am - 6.00 pm (Monday-Sunday)

Dataran Merdeka / Merdeka Square

Merdeka Square was known as the Selangor Club Padang before it was Merdeka Square. It has now become one of the most important historical landmarks in the history of Malaysia. The Merdeka Square is located just in front of the Sultan Abdul Samad Building. This is also where you get to see the tallest flag pole in Malaysia as well as the tallest in the world with 100 metres of height. Every year, Malaysia celebrates their independence day here at Merdeka Square.

Address: Jln Raja, City Centre, 50050 Kuala Lumpur, Wilayah Persekutuan Kuala Lumpur
Operating Hours: Open 24 hours

Iconic Landmarks

Central Market

Visit the Central Market, also known as Pasar Seni, for some interesting treasures and artifacts. This is where you can find all types of arts and crafts of various cultures in Malaysia. The Central Market is located in the centre of Kuala Lumpur and is easily reachable by public transportation.

Introduction To Malaysian Culture

As we all know, Malaysia is a remarkably diversified nation with a wide range of ethnicities, languages, and faiths. Each ethnic group's members have mostly maintained the cultural traditions of their forefathers. As a result, Malaysian culture accepts a wide range of philosophies, values, and way of life.

The general culture of Malaysia is described in the following information, which leans toward reflecting the Malay majority, but there are significant variations around the nation from this cultural mainstream.

Kuala Lumpur is home to many different ethnic groups including three major ethnicities which are Malay, Chinese, Indians and many other indigenous native races (including many Borneans that are currently in Peninsular Malaysia).

The intriguing mix of cultures from the migration communities who settled and intermarried locally has formed the culturally diverse country today.

A trip to Kuala Lumpur will not be complete without learning and understanding their rich heritage. Therefore, we have included a section for you to read about the cultures and traditions that they practise; it is for you to gain more knowledge on how unique Malaysian culture is.

You are able to build respectful relationships with the Malaysians by learning as much as you can about their native location, ethnicity, and religion beforehand. We have also shared with you some cultural places that are in Kuala Lumpur for you to visit. There are countless cultural places in Malaysia, specifically in KL. Hence, we have got you covered.

Get To Know The People

Malay

Malay culture has become a core culture in this multicultural country. Malay culture has been strongly influenced by cultures of other areas. The Malays make up about over a half of the population of Malaysia. According to the 2010 census, the Malay and other Bumiputera races in Kuala Lumpur make up 45.9% of Kuala Lumpur's population.

Because almost all of them are Muslims, this group is often referred to as "Muslim Malay." They rule the political sphere since they are the most numerous ethnic groups. Their supremacy is reflected in the nation's official language and religion (Islam). The majority of populations, for instance, speak some level of Malay, which is officially referred to as Bahasa Malaysia.

Besides, their cultural celebrations are Hari Raya Aidilfitri, Hari Raya Qurban, Awal Muharam, Maulud Nabi and Nisfu Sya'aban. There are many unique customs and traditions that the Malay community practice. One of them is eating food delicately by using the fingers of the right hand. It is also prohibited to consume alcohol and eat non-halal meats such as pork. Besides that, for the clothing, it is advisable for the women to dress modestly and be fully covered.

Chinese

The Chinese Malaysians are Malaysia's second-largest ethnic community, which makes up 22.4% of the country's population. However, in Kuala Lumpur the Chinese make up 43.2% of the population in Kuala Lumpur according to the 2010 census.

Most of them are descended from Southern Chinese immigrants who came to Malaysia between the early 19th and the middle of the 20th century. After Thai Chinese, Malaysian Chinese make up the second-largest overseas Chinese population worldwide. They speak a variety of Chinese languages such as the Hokkien, Hainanese, Cantonese and Hakka. The Chinese New Year, Chap Goh Mei, Moon Cake Festivals are some of the most important Chinese festivals in Malaysia.

The Chinese also practise customs and traditions and tourists should take note in order to respect the traditions of others. One of the customs and traditions of the Chinese is to follow the simple rules when visiting the Buddha temple such as showing respect by removing hats and shoes and to dress conservatively. Next, they practise feng shui when arranging furniture and objects around them to achieve harmony and balance.

Indian

The Indians, including smaller ethnic groups like Malayalees, Telugus, Sikhs, and others are currently Malaysia's third-largest ethnic group after the Malays and the Chinese. As of 2010, Indians make up 10.3% of the population in Kuala Lumpur.

The earliest migration of Indians into Malaysia was in the 19th Century which was during the reign of the British Empire. They also speak a variety of languages such as Tamil, Malayalam, Punjabi, Bengali, Pashto and Sinhalese.

Malaysia's most colourful festival is Deepavali where the Hindus celebrate by drawing patterns and figures on the ground and spreading coloured rice on them. The customs and traditions that the Indians in KL practise can be seen through their names which consists of two parts; their given name and their father's name with 'son of' or 'daughter of'.

Besides that, some of them still prefer to marry a partner of either the same class, caste, or community even though it is not often practised in Malaysia.

Orang Asli

The Orang Asli are a diverse group of indigenous people that are considered as the national minority in Malaysia. They are actually Peninsular Malaysia's first inhabitants and can be frequently found in forested or mountainous terrain.

While outsiders frequently mistake them for being one cohesive group, there are actually numerous separate groups and tribes, each group and tribe having their very own language, culture, and traditional territory.

There are actually three major Orang Asli tribes in Malaysia and they are the Indigenous Negrito ethnic group, Proto-Malay Indigenous people, and the Senoi ethnic group. Each of these groups can be broken down into several smaller sub-ethnic groups. Their patterns of life differ based on the locations that they live either in the forest, riverbank, or the coastal area.

Apart from that, they have historically been marginalised in social, economic, and cultural affairs. Like other indigenous groups, the Orang Asli work to protect their unique culture and identity, which are entwined with their immediate natural environment through territorial, spiritual, physical, economic, social, and cultural linkages.

Cultural Festivals

Hari Raya Aidilfitri (Eid)

One of the prominent yet joyful festivals in Malaysia is Hari Raya Aidilfitri which is celebrated by the Muslims. Eid marks the end of Ramadan, which is the holy month of abstinence. On the first day of Eid, Muslims would participate in special prayers at the mosque. The Muslims would host Open Houses for their friends and family to visit them during this joyful celebration, and the host would prepare a feast for everyone to enjoy.

Hari Raya Haji

Hari Raya Haji, also known as Eid al-Adha is quite similar to Hari Raya Aidilfitri, but it is different from other festivities in Malaysia. This is because the Muslims would engage in religious practices like sacrificial-slaughtering, which is known as 'korban', praying, and distributing food to the poor and needy during this traditional festival.

Chinese New Year

Chinese New Year is the most important Chinese festival in Malaysia. This grand cultural celebration lasts for 15 days which starts from the first day of the Chinese lunar calendar and ends on the Lantern Festival, also known as Chap Goh Meh. The Chinese would dress up in red and give away 'ang pow' as well as mandarin oranges for prosperity. Friends and family would come to attend their Open Houses and there would be lion dance performances as well.

Mooncake Festival

Mooncake Festival or the Mid-Autumn Festival, is a celebration in Chinese culture thanking the moon goddess for a bountiful harvest. There are colorful lanterns and mooncakes that are the main highlight of the celebration which stands for unity within the community. It is considered one of the most cheerful festivities celebrated across Malaysia. This celebration usually falls in the month of September.

Wesak Day

Wesak Day is a festival that is celebrated by the Buddhist. This celebrates the Day of the Full Moon in May. This is to commemorate the Buddha's birthday which at the same time also represents the moment of his enlightenment. Additionally, it is a moment to ponder his guidance and what it means to be a Buddhist. During this celebration, the Buddhist would release doves and tortoises as a symbol of liberating the soul as well as absolving one's past life sins.

Deepavali

Deepavali is one of the most prominent festivals celebrated in Malaysia. The clay lamps that are seen lighting up homes during Deepavali are the reason it is also known as 'the Festival of Lights'. During this celebration, houses are decked with colourful paper lanterns and 'kolam', which patterns and figures on the ground that were drawn and then coloured rice are spread on them. The main highlight of the festival is by visiting relatives and also greetings and sweets.

Thaipusam

Thaipusam is one of the most important Tamil festivals in Malaysia as it commemorates the victory of their Lord Muruga. The celebration is celebrated for three days and you are able to experience the grand procession at Batu Caves. During the celebration, Lord Muruga is carried in a silver chariot along with chanting and drums while thousands of devotees walk their way to the temple to see his blessings. You can also find passionate devotees carrying the 'kavadis' that are yoked to their body through metal spikes.

Christmas

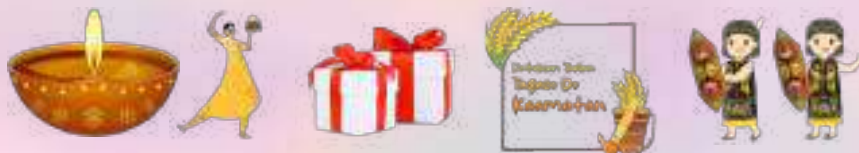

Christmas is a well-known celebration around the world as well as in Malaysia. It is a celebration commemorating the birth of Jesus Christ and it is one of the jolliest festivals in Malaysia. It is considered as one of the lively celebrations during the month of December even though Malaysia does not have the traditional 'white Christmas'. You are able to enjoy breathtaking Christmas decorations in every shopping mall in Malaysia.

Kaamatan Harvest Festival

The Kaamatan Harvest Festival is a native festival of the Kadazan-Dusun, which is Sabah's largest ethnic group. This celebration is to show gratitude to the holy spirits and be thankful for a bountiful harvest. There will be ethnic dance performances and other activities held, including drinking local rice wines called Tapai and Lihing during the celebration. This celebration is mainly held in Sabah state but you will also find it celebrated among the Sabahans that are currently living in Peninsular Malaysia.

Gawai Festival

The Gawai Festival is also a harvest festival but it is celebrated by the indigenous Dayak's race of Sarawak. This celebration begins from the 1st of June and lasts until the end of the month. The best place to experience this celebration in its full glory is at a longhouse, which is the traditional Dayak home that houses 40 families under one roof! There are traditional dances, feasts and free-flow rice wine called Tuak during the celebration. This celebration is mainly celebrated in the Sarawak state but you can also join Sarawakians in Peninsular Malaysia to celebrate.

Traditional Dances Of Malaysia

Mak Yong

The Mak Yong dance was developed by Malaysia's Malay communities. In the villages of Kelantan, northwest Malaysia, where the custom first appeared, Mak Yong is primarily carried out for amusement or for ritual reasons associated with healing rituals. The musical instruments used for this dance consists of a pair of double headed barrel drums (gendang), a three-stringed spiked fiddle (rebab), and hanging knobbed gongs (getaway). Mak Yong is also related to shamanic healing practices that involve song, trance dancing, and spirit possession.

Kuda Kepang

Kuda Kepang was brought by Javanese immigrants who were living in Malaysia at the time. This dance was regarded as part of Javanese heritage dance culture and had Islamic influences as it is also believed to be involved in spirit possessions. This is widely known and quite famous in Johor. The dancers will be telling a story through their movements while dressed in traditional Javanese attire. In this dance, they use various types of instruments such as bamboo handbells (angklung), two-headed drum (gendang), tom drums (jidur), and so on.

Bhangra

In the 20th century, Bhangra was introduced by the Sikhs in Malaysia and it originated from the Punjab region of India. Its ancestors performed it as a harvest-themed folk dance, nowadays it can be found during festivals, weddings, and other functions. Bhangra is typically danced to bolian, which are brief sets of songs that recount scenes or stories from Punjab by using the thol instrument, which is a huge drum.

Zapin

The Zapin dance is the most well-known Malay dance in Malaysia, especially in Selangor, Johor and Penang. Zapin dancers were predominantly men in the past, however, it is now common to see male and female zapin dancers perform on stage together. The musical instruments used for these performers are the short-necked lute (gambus), double-sided hand drum (marwas), and the violin. This dance is performed in pairs and it is different from state to state.

Lion Dance

The lion dance is the most iconic dance in Malaysia during Chinese New Year. This dance is performed by a pair of dancers dressed in a lion costume. The most typical dance move performed by them is when the dancer lifts the other, which includes carrying the lion head high above the shoulders. The lion dance is accompanied by the sound of drums (tangga), cymbals, as well as gongs. The lion costume comes in many different vibrant colors as well as equipped with blinking eyes and that is what makes the dance exciting as it moves to the beat.

Traditional Arts & Crafts

Batik Art

Batik is a very popular art that is embedded in Malay culture. The process of producing batik is by using vibrant wax-resist coloring on a plain piece of fabric. The most popular designs and patterns that are used in batik are floral designs such as flowers and leaves. These days, other forms of patterns such as geometrical patterns and spirals are incorporated to make it look more modernized. This form of art has developed its individuality over the years in Malaysia.

Keris

Keris, also known as Kris, is a unique and asymmetrical dagger which is often known to have essence or possess magical powers whether it is good luck or the opposite. It is thought to serve as both a weapon and a spiritual object during the early times. However, nowadays it is used as an accessory for ceremonial dresses that indicates a social status of an individual. Unfortunately, these days Keris-making is a dying art form in Malaysia.

Rattan Weaving

Rattan Weaving is one of the oldest crafts that still exists today. The raw material is made of cane which is long, often 25 meter or longer, and rattan stalk is created by removing the outer peel and drying it. The bark resembles a resilient, glossy, and flexible bark. The chilly touch that the cane plant offers is just one of its many advantages. It is suitable to make furniture and it has become the most popular choice for Malaysian homes as it suits the hot and humid tropical climate in the country. Some of the items that are made by rattan weaving are baskets, tables, rocking chairs and many more. However, there are very few craftsmen that are still keeping this form of craft alive today.

Wau Bulan

The Wau Bulan, which is a moon-shaped kite, originated from Kelantan, is the national symbol of Malaysia. The Wau kite has several types which vary from different distinctive shapes and sizes as well as different patterns on them. The kites have vibrant floral patterns on them and also paper tassels to make them more attractive as they fly in the sky. It is a form of traditional craft in the states of Kelantan, Terengganu, Kedah and Perlis.

Places of Worship

ISLAM

Islam was first introduced to Malaysia during the 10th century until the 15th century by the Arabs and Indian traders and merchants. Then, Islam became the most widely followed religion since the Malacca Sultanate during the 15th century. Today, around 63.5% of the Malaysian population are Muslims. Here are some of the mosques that can be found in Kuala Lumpur.

National Mosque of Malaysia (Masjid Negara)

The National Mosque of Malaysia, built in 1963, is located in Kuala Lumpur. The mosque is still standing firmly on its grounds and is today recognized as a significant emblem of Malaysia, an Islamic nation. The mosque can accommodate around 15,000 people and is surrounded by lush greenery that covers a 13-acre plot of land. The mosque's 73-meter-high minarets and its main concrete roof, which is shaped like a 16-pointed star, are its greatest characteristics. The mosque's design conveys a variety of messages such as the image of an open umbrella served as the design inspiration for the main roof, while the minarets were modelled after a folded umbrella.

CHRISTIANITY

Christianity was first introduced to Malaysia by the Arab, Persian and Turkish Christian traders during the 7th century, whereas various denominations like Catholicism and Protestantism were introduced by the colonizers from the 16th to 20th century. Christianity in Malaysia is the third most practiced religion with 9.1% of the population. Two-thirds of the Christians live in East Malaysia as there are many who practice Christianity in Sabah and Sarawak when compared to Peninsular Malaysia.

Catholic Church of the Holy Rosary

The Catholic Church of the Holy Rosary was established in 1903, making it 119 years old this year. Although it is an old church, it is one of the most well preserved sacred places in Kuala Lumpur. The architecture of the church is a Gothic-style church and the exterior is stunning. Since it is located in the heart of KL city, it is interesting to juxtapose the classic building of the church with the modern skyscrapers all around it.

HINDU

6.1% of the population in Malaysia are Hindu, making it the fourth largest religion in the country. Like Buddhism, Hinduism was introduced to Malaysia by the early Indian traders more than two millennia ago. The diverse origins of the Hindu migrant workers that came to Malaysia has led to different practices of the religion which are influenced by various local images, deities and customs. This can be seen through the different temple designs and specific deities worshiped.

Sri Maha Mariamman Temple

The Sri Maha Mariamman Temple, located at the edge of Chinatown, is the oldest Hindu temple in Kuala Lumpur. The temple was founded in 1873 and was rebuilt in 1968, featuring the ornate five-tiered 'Raja Gopuram' tower above the entrance. Introduction to Shopping

Shopping has become an important part in the tourism industry. The Secretariat Shopping Malaysia (SSM) is aiming to promote Malaysia as a world-class shopping destination to international and local tourists.

KL city comprises various shopping malls and there are over 190 shopping malls in the cosmopolitan Klang Valley, with over 50 shopping centres in KL alone. Shopping malls in the capital city of Malaysia are a must-visit for everyone and there are plenty of options for shoppers to choose from.

Shopping malls in Malaysia are not only a place to go shopping, but they have become social centres, recreational and entertainment facilities for many activities as well.

Due to the hot weather in Malaysia, the locals love to spend their time going to shopping malls because it is the best place to stroll around especially when the malls are air-conditioned. Going to malls is a great opportunity to escape the scorching tropical heat. Although some people do not plan to buy anything at the mall, they are just there to go window shopping. It has been shown that going to malls is able to make us feel good and happy.

Most of the items in KL can be bought at an affordable price, hence local tourists and foreign tourists who visit KL will come with empty suitcases. At some places, you are able to haggle the price for certain items to get a lower deal. Don't forget to haggle and get the best price possible!

Apart from that, luxury malls such as Pavilion and Suria KLCC can be found in Bukit Bintang and KLCC district respectively. These malls house international luxury brands like Jimmy Choo, Louis Vuitton, Gucci, Balenciaga and many more.

Other than shopping malls, there are numerous local markets in KL where you can get great deals and unusual goods for a reasonable price. There are numerous markets in KL like day and night markets as well as flea markets that are often filled with people. We have prepared for you a list of shopping places to go in KL city for you to visit.

Must Buy Souvenirs

Batik

Batik is a very popular art that is embedded in Malay culture. The process of producing batik is by using vibrant wax-resist coloring on a plain piece of fabric. The most popular designs and patterns that are used in batik are floral designs such as flowers and leaves. These days, other forms of patterns such as geometrical patterns and spirals are incorporated to make it look more modernized. This form of art has developed its individuality over the years in Malaysia. Purchase your own batik at Batik Boutique to support this local product made by marginalized women.

Songket

Songket is a traditional handwoven fabric that is made by Malay women in Peninsular Malaysia and also Sarawak. It is intricately designed and handwoven from silk or cotton with metallic threads in gold or silver. The metallic threads produce a shimmering look by standing out against the backdrop fabric. During the weaving process, an additional weft weaving technique is used to weave metallic threads between the silk or cotton weft (latitudinal) threads. Purchase your own beautifully made songket at this shop called TEH Songket in KL.

Introduction To Gastronomic Delights In KL

Many first-time visitors that came to visit Malaysia could understand why this country is also known for its cuisine. This nation provides a fantastic gourmet experience. There is a wide range of interesting eateries and food merchants that can be found all over the country.

The culturally diverse country has played a significant role in the Malaysian food industry. As you can see, Malaysian cuisine is extremely varied and heavily influenced by the Chinese, Indian, as well as native Malay cooking methods. These influences range from the primary cooking pan being a wok to the use of a variety of spices in most of the meals. It can also be seen in the incredible flavor combinations used in Malaysian cuisine that combine textures, tastes, and colors with a wide variety of components.

The people, the views, and the cuisine are the three key components of travel that offer the greatest potential for discovery. We would like to welcome visitors to Malaysia and sincerely hope that you would take the opportunity to sample a variety of the cuisines in this country and bring back happy and delectable memories to your respective homes.

Malaysian cuisine has its own distinct flavor because the country is home to many different ethnic groups. You can easily find authentic Malay eateries next to a variety of Chinese and Indian restaurants. Therefore, it is highly recommended for you to try out all the mouth-watering local delicacies that are only in Malaysia!

Must Try Dishes

Maggi Goreng

Maggi Goreng is one of Malaysians' go-to foods when they are at any Mamak food stalls. Maggi Goreng is a stir-fried instant-noodle dish mixed with vegetables, eggs, meat and soy sauce. Although the name is Maggi Goreng, they do not necessarily use the Maggi brand of instant noodles.

Asam Laksa

The dish laksa has Peranakan roots. Laksa comes in a huge variety of flavors. Asam laksa comes in numerous variations, just in Malaysia. This Penang asam laksa is one of the must-try dishes when you are in Malaysia. It is a fish-based soup asam laksa that is sweet and tangy. It includes tamarind flavor, which is frequently used to give this stock its sour flavor, which is known by the Malay word 'asam'. The flavor of Asam Laksa is quite complex, combining umami, sweet, sour, and spice.

Roti Canai

Roti Canai is an Indian flatbread dish that is made with flour, water, eggs, and ghee. The process of making the roti canai is by repeatedly folding the dough so that the end product would have a layered texture, along with a soft interior yet crispy outer layer. Besides the plain roti canai (roti kosong), it comes with many other types such as Roti Telur, Roti Tisu, Roti Bom, Roti Tampal and many more. You'd be surprised with the variety of roti canai we have in Malaysia! This dish can be easily found in any Mamak stall in Malaysia.

Char Kuey Teow

Char Kuey Teow is a stir-fried rice noodle dish originating from southern China. 'Char' means stir-fried and 'kway teow' means flat rice noodles in Hokkien and Teochew. It is one of the famous street foods in Malaysia which consists of soy sauce, eggs, bean sprouts, cockles, and shrimp. For the non-halal version, Chinese sausage and croutons made of crispy pork fat is included in this dish.

Nasi Kandar

Nasi Kandar is a popular dish which originates from Penang state. It was well known among the Hindu Muslim traders from India. The nasi kandar is rice served with various curries and choices of other dishes with different meat as well as vegetables. The price ranges based on how much curries and types of meat that you add to your rice.

Nasi Lemak

Nasi Lemak is a type of rice that has been cooked in coconut milk with pandan leaf and is the main component of this Malay dish. Nasi Lemak is known as the national dish of Malaysia. It is regarded as a necessary component of a traditional Malay morning dish. However, because nasi lemak can be served in a variety of ways, it is often eaten throughout the day. The national dish, nasi lemak, can easily be found anywhere in Malaysia, whether in food stalls or restaurants inside shopping malls.

Must Try Snacks

Roti John

Roti John is a unique snack in Malaysia and is favorable to many locals. It is a French loaf that is fried with butter on the inside and then filled with toppings such as mutton or chicken, sliced onion, eggs, some vegetables, tonnes of mayonnaise and chilli or tomato sauce. This is the best snack to have when you are strolling around the night markets in Malaysia.

Cendol Durian

Cendol is an iced sweet treat that includes palm sugar syrup, coconut milk, and specks of green rice flour jelly. There are various other toppings that are available for your desired cendol besides durian as well. Some of them fermented sweet cassava (tapai), jackfruit, dragon fruit, chocolate syrup, and many more. Enjoy some cold sensation of the cendol along with the taste of Malaysia's King of fruits in it; it is perfect to have during a scorching hot weather.

Lok-lok

Lok-lok is a famous street food in Malaysia that is steamboat-style. With various choices of meat and vegetables served in skewers, you will be spoilt for choice as you stop by one of these stalls. Some of them can either be boiled, deep-fried or even grilled. Then, you will be given a type of sauce for you to dip the food in. Keep an eye for these Lok-lok Food Trucks when you are around KL and don't forget to stop by.

Bubur Cha Cha

Bubur cha cha is a Nonya/Peranakan dessert and breakfast dish made with pearled sago, sweet potatoes, yams, bananas, coconut milk, pandan leaves, sugar, and salt. This dessert is one of the easiest desserts to be made at home. The colorful yet delicious dessert is what makes it unique and different from any other desserts.

Apam Balik

Apam balik is known as one of Malaysia's favorite snacks. It is a sweet dessert with Chinese origins that is currently available in numerous types at any apam balik roadside stalls in Malaysia. The apam balik is a thick and fluffy pancake with many types of fillings such as sugar and butter, nestum, peanut butter, chocolate, sweet cream-style corn, and so on.

Tau Foo fah

Tau Foo Fah is a sweet local dessert made of tofu that is favorable among Malaysians. It is a silky smooth tofu pudding that is infused with clear sweet syrup of either sugar or brown sugar. Walk along any night market and you will find a hawker stall that sells freshly made soy milk as well as this tau foo fah. It is often served warm but some might prefer it cold.

Introduction to Night Life

There are lots of things to do in KL's vibrant nightlife. Despite the fact that Malaysia is a Muslim nation, alcohol is widely available, and many places offer happy hours. Kuala Lumpur city changes its appearance when night falls as it is known as a hive of activity at night. KL definitely has many intriguing spots to visit at night as it is home to many pubs, bars, clubs, as well as upscale rooftop bars.

Late-night travellers in Kuala Lumpur are huge fans of rooftop bars. There are many nocturnal hotpots around KL city, ranging from elegant restaurants to cocktail lounges set atop high-rise buildings, that take place well above the streets.

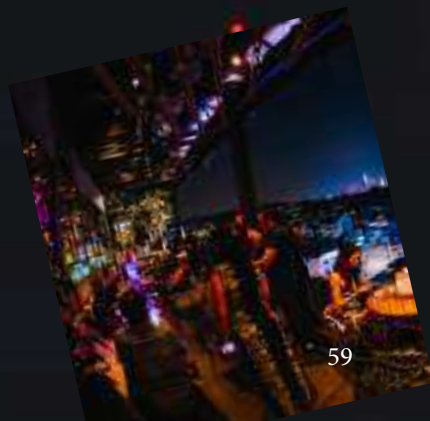

These rooftop pubs and bars atop skyscrapers in KL are known to be some of the best nightlife in the city as you get to enjoy the breathtaking view of KL from above. If you are planning on having a chill night out with good music, the bars and pubs are the best place to go to.

Besides, there are also many clubbing spots around the city of Kuala Lumpur. If you enjoy partying, KL offers various clubs for you to make your experience in KL more fun and exciting. There are various dance clubs and discos in KL as well as clubs with live music for you to enjoy.

Other than that, the area around Changkat Bukit Bintang and TREC comprises lively Western style bars and pubs that attract youngsters and party hard crowds.

As for the suburbs of Bangsar and just to the center, there are quite a number of cocktail bars and late night speakeasies which gives off a welcoming atmosphere.

At these areas by 10PM, the atmosphere is filled with loud DJ dance music that is expertly blended until the morning comes. Hence, here are some of the must-visit areas in KL if you are searching for a pleasant place to hang out and have fun.

Introduction to Medical Tourism

Medical Tourism refers to the people who travel abroad for medical care. This used to refer to people who traveled from less developed countries to major medical centers in developed countries for treatment that were not available there. However, in recent years, people would travel to another country just to seek medical advice because the cost of the service is cheaper than in their own country.

Patients may experience differences in treatment plans, especially in the availability of certain medicine in a country, which may be due to the financial stability of the particular health system.

It has been said that the cost of medical services in Malaysia is lower than many other countries. This is one of the reasons why Malaysia is well-known for its medical tourism as the treatments are in high quality combined with a very favourable price for every session. There are actually hundreds of thousands of patients that travel to this country to consult medical services and get treated every year.

The healthcare system in Malaysia operates as a 'two-tier healthcare system', as the government funds and provides a tax financed Public Healthcare.

While coinciding with a Privatized Healthcare System. With that being said, Malaysia's healthcare system is considered as one of the best systems in the world because the government has provided highly subsidized healthcare for all residents through its extensive network of public clinics and hospitals.

Apart from that, the doctors in Malaysia are professional and highly trained that will ensure the patients receive the best treatments from them. Most medical doctors will always ensure that the patients feel safe when they are conducting their treatment as they will attend to your needs gently. Besides, doctors are the most trusted profession in Malaysia.

Therefore, we have provided a list of healthcare systems in Malaysia for you to visit if you are planning on enhancing your beauty or seeking medical advice.

Ophthalmology

Ophthalmology is a surgical branch of medicine that focuses on the identification and management of eye diseases. KL is one of the best places to go for ophthalmology services as there are many centers that provide high standards, lower prices but also a long history with eye surgeries and lenses. We have prepared a list of centers in KL that are excellent in ophthalmology, specifically in clinical care. Most of these places have prepared specialty services for their patients such as sophisticated laser eye surgery (LASIK), the most intricate vitreoretinal, orbital reconstruction, and intricate corneal transplant procedure.

Introduction & Types of Traditional Spa Treatments

Relaxation is considered as an act of letting go of tension and reviving the body or mind. Resting is different from relaxing because relaxing is how our minds regenerate and can help us feel less arousal from stress or anxiety. Relaxation and rest are closely associated; they are not exclusive to one another. Therefore, it's essential that we have enough rest and relaxation in order to maintain the best levels of mental and physical health. It is encouraged to make rest and relaxation a top priority, especially after an emotionally and physically tiring day. A soothing spa day is known to be the ideal treatment for you if you are exhausted and in need of a pick-me-up, especially after a tiring day of traveling and shopping. Hence, relax and rejuvenate at these spas and wellness centers in Kuala Lumpur!

TRADITIONAL SPA & TREATMENT

Thai Massage

Thai Massage is a combination of compressions, acupressure, as well as passive stretching. These massages improve the range of motion in your joints, muscles and also your posture. In traditional thai massage, the masseuse would normally use their hands, thumbs, elbows, forearms, and sometimes even their feet to massage in order to reduce tension in your muscles.

Ayurvedic Massage

Ayurvedic Massage is usually done with medicated herbal oils that consist of various health benefits. Throughout the massage, the oils will enter through the skin, reach the tissues and help speed up the repair process.

Traditional Chinese Massage

Traditional Chinese massage techniques include acupuncture and herbal remedies that attempt to enhance overall health by promoting the movement of energy or Qi around the body, in contrast to deep tissue massage or sports massage, which concentrate on relieving knots and muscle tension by focusing blood flow to areas.

Balinese Massage

The Balinese Massage consists of influence from the traditional medicine systems of India, China and Southeast Asia and stimulates the movement of blood, oxygen, and energy (Qi) around your body and promotes deep relaxation by combining mild stretches, acupressure, reflexology, and aromatherapy.

Cupping Therapy

Cupping Therapy, also known as bekam in Malay, is a traditional treatment that has a lot of benefits. It is an alternative medicine that uses heated suction cups on the skin that are placed on the skin to remove toxins from the surface of the skin.

Introduction To Accommodation

Kuala Lumpur has ample accommodations for visitors to stay ranging from chalets to 5-star hotels. There are a variety of accommodations that can be found in the city of Kuala Lumpur which are either surrounded by alluring nature or adjacent reflective skyscrapers. These days, several people have offered their homes to become a lodge for visitors; these are called homestays or airbnb.

The cost of lodging in Kuala Lumpur is reasonable so that everyone could have a good stay when they are visiting the city of KL. There are also various rooms available in each hotel or resort in KL, and most packages include breakfast.

Besides that, there are many accommodations in KL that are catered for backpackers or locals that are in the area for either an outstation or just for a staycation. There are some places that offer a community area which includes arcades, a court for sports and so on.

These are specifically for those who just want to stay indoors and relax while having fun. Some would also offer a cheaper rate if you are staying there for a longer period.

Many hotels change their rates on a daily basis depending on occupancy, so check their websites for the most up-to-date information.

Nowadays, it is recommended to use certain applications or websites to book your stay in advance to get a slightly lower price than the actual amount.

You can head over to these websites to book your stay; they are Booking.com, Trivago.com, Traveloka.com, Agoda.com, and so on. Book your stay in KL from these websites now so you can just cut the queue and save more time!

HISTORY OF MELAKA

Melaka is a state located in the southwest of Peninsular Malaysia. It is one of the major tourist destinations in Malaysia as it is well-known for its interesting and unique history in Malaysia. Melaka was proclaimed as a Historical City on 15th of April 1989.

Melaka state is one of the oldest states in Malaysia with a history dating back to the early 15th century when it was founded by Parameswara from Sumatra, also known as Iskandar Shah. The name of 'Melaka' was actually named after a tree and this new place's discovery had led to the emergence of the new Malayan Empire.

Melaka had become the perfect location for the Dutch, Portuguese and English to play their roles towards shaping the history of the city. Parameswara with his headman made this place a maritime trading destination that became a successful trading centre at that time. The strategic location of Melaka made it a famous trading centre which attracted traders from different parts of the world.

INTRODUCTION TO MELAKA

In the year 1511, Melaka was captured by the Portuguese and was then shifted to the hands of Dutch in 1641. Then, in the year 1795, the British took control of Melaka to stop the French occupation. However, after the Treaty of Vienna happened, the Dutch took over Melaka once again. In 1826, the British East India Company along with Penang and Singapore started to govern the place.

Due to that, Melaka has become a historical city filled with many interesting attractions today. Besides, it has also been listed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site since the 7th of July 2008. Previously, Melaka was the centre of all the important spice trade, making traders from all over the world anchored in Melaka. From there, many descendants and tribes had born and existed in Melaka to this day. Hence, a great diversity of races and ethnicities have long existed among the local community in Melaka reflecting its history.

As we already know, Melaka is one of the major tourist destinations in Malaysia as it comprises various interesting attractions all over the city. Melaka comprises various one-of-a-kind sights and attractions that are never before seen. If you are intrigued by the past of Malaysia, the historical city of Melaka is definitely worth visiting!

When you explore the city, you will notice that every aspect of Melaka including its cuisines and historical buildings are influenced by the foreign forces that have invaded the state during that period of time. There are various interesting sights and attractions around Melaka city including colonial architecture, observatory towers, museums and so on.

There are also various night markets and food stalls that will fulfil your shopping and gastronomic needs for affordable prices. With tons to see and do in Melaka, you will certainly have a memorable and enjoyable trip as you get to take in the breathtaking scenery, delectable cuisine, hip music, and rich history.

We have prepared a list of places for you to visit around Melaka so that you could plan your itinerary right away. When you are visiting Malaysia, don't forget to visit Malacca too because the city is awaiting your arrival!

HOW TO GET THERE FROM KL

There are a few ways to get to Melaka city from KL. One of them is by car where you could use the Lebuhraya Utara-Selatan E1 expressway if you are from Kuala Lumpur or Shah Alam.

The journey by car takes about two hours and 15 minutes and two hours 20 minutes respectively.

One of the affordable ways to travel to Melaka is by bus. There are multiple trips that travel to and fro KL city to Melaka; there are also several locations in and around KL that leaves to Melaka.

Most buses that depart to Melaka from KL are available from Terminal Bersepadu Selatan and will arrive at Melaka Central.

The journey to Melaka from KL by bus takes approximately three hours and eight minutes to get there. There are also buses from Hentian Duta KL to Melaka as well.

Apart from that, another alternative to travel to Melaka from KL is by train. The Electric Train Service, also known as ETS, leaves from KL Sentral and it takes approximately two hours and 50 minutes to get there.

GETTING AROUND MELAKA

Walk

The best way to explore the city of Melaka is definitely by foot. The good thing about Melaka is, most of the main attractions are within a 1km radius which is accessible by foot. You could enjoy the historical city of Melaka while living a healthy lifestyle by walking; you also get to burn your calories!

Cycle

If you want to get from one destination to another quickly and easily, cycling is the best way to do it. Cycle your way throughout these tourist hotspots like Jonker Street and around Porte De Santiago.

As you cycle, you are able to enjoy the cool breeze blowing gently at your face while you discover unique finds from small back lanes. You will stumble upon antique shops, random galleries, quirky little bars, murals and so on while you are cycling. There are various bicycle rental centres that offer bicycles for around RM10 per bike.

Trishaw

Trishaws are one of the unusual yet popular rides in Melaka. It is a small vehicle with a pedal and three wheels. You can find them at the Dutch Square with cute and vibrant decorations on their trishaws like flowers, dolls and lights; some of them even have catchy music for an enjoyable ride.

You may also ask the rider for some information about the landmarks as you pass by. Did you know, the trishaw was once a main public transportation for the residents of Melaka?

GETTING AROUND MELAKA

Free Bus

There are also buses in Melaka that offer free rides to passengers, such as the Melaka Panorama Bus. The Panorama Melaka Sdn Bhd, formerly known as PM Cultural & Tourism Pvt. Limited is a private company owned by the Melaka state government. The company aims to provide tourists a comfortable public bus service throughout Melaka. Most of the buses depart from the Melaka Sentral bus station and ride along the popular places in Malacca for those who want to see the cultural and historical city.

E-Hailings/Taxi

You can also opt for Taxis and E-hailings like Grab for a fastest way to explore Melaka. It is advisable to use a car if you plan to explore outside of the prime city area of Malacca because your desired destinations might be far from each other.

Cruise

Along the Melaka River, there are jetties where you could hop on the Melaka River Cruise and enjoy the interesting sights along the river. You may purchase your tickets at the Spice Garden jetty or Melaka River Square Jetty. During the 45-minute cruise, you will have a sightseeing tour along the river where you could see historic buildings, old warehouses, graffiti art on the buildings, restaurants, bars and so on accompanied by an audio which provides information of the places you see.

GET TO KNOW THE ETHNIC GROUPS IN MELAKA

As we all know, Melaka is one of the culturally and historically rich cities in Malaysia which had been colonized by the Portuguese, Dutch, and British respectively; this forms an intriguing mix of cultures from the communities who settled and intermarried locally. The local community has traditionally had a large mix of races and nationalities. Some of the primary ethnic groups that can be found in Malacca are Malay, Indian, Chinese, Baba Nyonya, Portuguese, Chitty and Aborigines.

MALAY COMMUNITY

When Parameswara embraced Islam, it has made Islam as the state's official religion with Malay as the national language. Malay culture has become a core culture in this multicultural country. Malay culture has been strongly influenced by cultures of other areas.

There are many customs and traditions of the Malay community that you should know. One of it is their traditional clothing which is quite conservative as per the laws of Islam. The Malay clothing for men is the Baju Melayu which has the Cekak Musang as the top and loose trousers with a Kain Sampin tied around their waist.

For the women, they would wear a long-sleeved tunic called the Baju Kurung or a Kebaya. Besides that, their cultural celebrations are Hari Raya Aidilfitri, Hari Raya Qurban, Awal Muharam, Maulud Nabi and Nisfu Sya'aban.

CHINESE COMMUNITY

The Chinese community came to Melaka as travelling merchants that traded valuable Chinese Silk and porcelain. It shows that the Chinese had been in this region even before the 15th century when the legendary Admiral Cheng Ho visited Melaka during his first of the seven great voyages.

The Chinese have practised many customs and traditions that can be seen in the Malaysian Chinese. Their culture can be seen through their traditional clothing where the women would wear a one-piece dress called a Cheongsam.

The Cheongsam consists of silk cloth and has a high collar, diagonally closed with small clips or fabric clasps. For the cultural celebration, the Chinese community in Malacca celebrates Chinese New Year, Chap Goh Mei, Moon Cake Festivals and many more.

GET TO KNOW THE ETHNIC GROUPS IN MELAKA

INDIAN

The Indian community is considered the third largest single ethnic group in Malaysia. The earliest migration of Indians into Malaysia was in the 19th Century which was during the reign of the British Empire. Parameswara himself was a Hindu, he later converted to Islam as Muslim traders began trading in Melaka.

The majority of the Indians in Malaysia are mostly from Tamil Nadu and Kerala. They speak Tamil and Malayalam while speaking Telugu and Hindi as well. Their traditional clothing is sarees for the women, whereas the men would wear a kurta and dhoti.

The women's saree has three parts which is a tight-sleeved bodice called a 'Jim Poole', a loose dress inside the saree and wrapped in the outermost is the saree which is lower body 'Beidegeer' petticoat. The Indian community celebrates two main festivals which are Deepavali and Thaipusam.

BABA NYONYA

Baba Nyonya, also known as Peranakan, is a unique culture that combines Chinese, Malay and English cultures into one. Hundreds of years ago, the Chinese traders in Melaka settled in Peninsular Malaysia and intermarried with locals that are with Malay or Indonesia origin.

The language that they used are mostly Baba Malay, which is a creole dialect of the Malay language which contains many Hokkien words. However, the younger generation uses English as their main language these days.

The Baba Nyonya's traditional clothing are adaptations from the Malay culture which is a Kain Batik Kebaya Panjang and beaded slippers. However, the attire for men consists of a Chinese frog-buttoned tunic worn over loose trousers, mandarin gowns and thick-soled shoes.

Besides that, the cultural celebrations that the Baba Nyonya celebrates are the majority of the forefathers of Chinese festivals; this includes Chinese Lunar New Year, Cheng Beng, Dragon Boat Festival, Festival of the Hungry Ghost, Mid-Autumn Festival and Winter Solstice Festival.

GET TO KNOW THE ETHNIC GROUPS IN MELAKA

PORTUGUESE

As we all know, Melaka was once a Portuguese colony from the year 1511 until 1641. The Portuguese men then settled in Melaka and married with the local women. Today, most of the Portuguese community in Melaka live in the Portuguese Settlement in Ujong Pasir, and also in Bandar Hilir and Praya Land. The Portuguese language is Kristang, which is a creole mixture of archaic Portuguese from the 16th century that are mixed with Malay elements.

Their traditional clothing expresses the Portuguese and Spaniards distinct heritage which are unique to the Iberian Peninsula; it comprises berets, stocking caps, baggy shirts and trousers for the men. For the women, they would wear long dresses and shawls. Besides that, the cultural celebration of the Portuguese are events that are related to Christianity as most of them are Christians.

Therefore, they celebrate Christmas and Easter Sunday. Apart from that, they also celebrate Fiesta de San Joao or the Feast of St. John as it is the evening candlelight procession from Praya Lane's Assumption Church to the Settlement. Fiesta de San Pedro is also another feast celebrated to honour St. Peter, which has been celebrated for more than four centuries.

CHITTY

The Chitty community, also known as Chetti or Chetty Melaka, are descendants of Indian traders that came to Malacca in the 14th century. Some of the traders from India married Malay and Chinese women when they were in Melaka at that time and settled in Melaka with their new families, hence how the Chitty community was established.

The Chitty community maintained their Hindu religious practice as well as embracing the local culture. Their main language is called Chetti Creole, which consists of Malay, Tamil and Hokkien words. Besides that, they often wear Baju Kebaya Panjang over a Sarong and some would wear Sarees, whereas the men would wear Cekak Musang, Kain Pelikat and a Talpa which is a white handkerchief as their head gear.

Other than that, they celebrate a festival to honour the ancestors twice a year called Bongi, which is quite similar to the Chinese. They also celebrate Marghazi or Bulan Berbunga, which means the month of flowers, where they perform daily prayers until the eve of Pongal.

TRADITIONAL ARTS & CRAFTS

Melaka is home to many beautiful artwork and rare antiques, unique hand sewn clothing, handmade trinkets and so on. Traditional Melaka handicrafts that can be found throughout Melaka range from arts and crafts from different cultures such as Malay, Chinese, Indian, Portuguese, Chitty and the Baba and Nyonya community.

Rattan & Mengkuang Weaving Products

Rattan is a long climbing plant with thorny leaves and glossy, water resistant surface, whereas mengkuang leaves are designs and craftsmanship that are unique and high quality. The process of rattan and mengkuang weaving requires a lot of determination and patience as it requires high expertise. The items that are of rattan and mengkuang weaving consists of household items and furniture like pot vases, baskets, bird cages, stools and so on.

Gasing

Gasing, or a spinning top, is a traditional game that is popular among the Malays. The gasing is made of wood or hard fruit, iron and lead. This traditional game is often played among the villagers in Melaka where the players would spin their gasing rapidly on the ground and smash their gasing against the others to win.

Wooden Clogs

The wooden clogs are a footwear that is made completely from wood. It has been around in Melaka for hundreds of years where the older generation would use them around the kitchen or in the markets.

Beaded Shoes

The Nyonya beaded shoes are one of the unique footwears that can be found in Melaka. It is an artistic handcraft and heritage of the Baba Nyonya culture. The intricacy and fine workmanship of a pair of beaded shoes is a trademark for the Peranakan culture as they are known for their highly-skilled embroidery and beadwork.

Kompang/Gendang

The kompang or gendang is a traditional Islamic musical instrument among the Malays. It is somewhat like a tambourine made from animal skin, mainly goat or cow skin, that is nailed to a wooden frame. It is used for all sorts of social occasions like the Islamic ritual which is the Zikir.

Clay

There are various clay products that can be found in Melaka such as lamps, tea cups, kettles, flower vases, miniature traditional houses, incense burners and many more. The ceramic shops in Melaka produce fine clay pieces with unique shapes and motifs.

LANDMARKS

There are various landmarks in Melaka that are considered as must-visits when you are in Melaka. Most of the landmarks in Melaka are nearby, hence they are all accessible on foot.

Taming Sari Tower

The Taming Sari Tower is a 110-metre-tall gyro tower in Melaka City and considered as one of the major attractions in the city. It is actually the first revolving gyro tower in Malaysia.
