TRANSPORTATION

THE NEW WAY TO THE WORLD

FROM KLIA & KLIA 2

Every day from 5AM to 12PM, the KLIA Express train provides a first-rate, high-speed airport transfer service to KLIA and KLIA 2. From the city centre, the KLIA Express will arrive at KLIA and KLIA 2 in just 35 to 40 minutes, respectively. A single-way ticket only costs RM55. If you book the Group Save Package, you will also save 25% off regular fares. Besides that, there is an Airport Coach bus that will cost around RM10 and operating hours are from 12.30 AM to 11.30 PM. All year long, from early in the morning until late at night, the Aero bus runs every five to twenty minutes. From KL Sentral, you can take a bus to KLIA or KLIA 2 and then back to the city centre. The running times are 6.45 AM to 6.45 PM, and the ticket is RM14. It offers a 10% discount in addition to a 5-star low-cost service. In addition, taxis are rather expensive while going from the city centre to the airport. The price ranges from RM80 to about RM200 if you are going with your family. Grab will cost from RM65 as it is a fixed rate for GrabCar to and from Klang Valley to KLIA and KLIA2 and it will only take about 40 to 45 minutes. We highly recommend you to take Grab as it is more convenient and comfortable.

FROM SUBANG SKYPARK TERMINAL

SKYPARK Link trains transport passenger from KL Sentral to Subang Airport. It's an express train service in Kuala Lumpur. With an interval of 30 to 60 minutes, SkyPark Link now offers 32 daily services. It only costs RM3.50 per trip from Subang Airport to KL Sentral.

FROM PENANG INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

Flights that depart from Penang Airport for Kuala Lumpur International Airport will take around an hour and it will cost between RM70 to RM650. Aside from that, taking the bus to KL from Penang is the least expensive option, with fares starting at RM50 to RM60. However, each trip from Penang to KL will take 7 to 8 hours to complete. Depending on the traffic, it will take 4 to 5 hours to drive from Penang to Kuala Lumpur.

FROM LANGKAWI INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

There are flights that can transport you in around an hour and ten minutes from Langkawi International Airport to Kuala Lumpur International Airport. The flights' base fares range from RM160 to RM200. Other than that, it won't take long for flights from Langkawi to Subang Airport to get to the destination - roughly around 58 minutes. From Langkawi, the bus fee to Kuala Lumpur ranges from RM118 to RM176 per person, including the cost of the ferry to the island.

FROM KOTA KINABALU INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

Taking flights is the only option to travel to and from Sabah to KL. The flights will take about 2 hours and 25 minutes to travel from Kota Kinabalu International Airport (KKIA) to KLIA Airport, and prices range from RM380 to RM1380

FROM KUCHING INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

Flights will take about 2 hours and 45 minutes to get from Kuching International Airport to KLIA. 11 kilometres to the south of the city's heart is where you'll find Kuching International Airport. Malaysia Airlines, Air Asia, and Malindo Air are all operate flights that go to KL. Additionally, it takes 2 hours 23 minutes to fly from Kuching to Subang Airport, and prices range from RM 289 to RM 581.

ALTERNATIVE WAY TO KL CITY CENTER

Train

One of the fastest ways to travel from the airport to the city center is by the express train which takes approximately 28 minutes. However, the price for each ticket is quite expensive.

The express train travels between International Airports both KLIA & KLIA 2 to KL Sentral. You may purchase the train tickets online or head to its main station at KL Sentral. The service provides a free porter service at respective platforms and also high speed WIFI on board.

Apart from that, there are also other train services that will lead you to the city centre of Kuala Lumpur. The train services that are available are the MRT, LRT, KL Monorail and KTM.

Bus

2

Buses are undoubtedly the cheapest mode of transportation to get from both the airports to the city and vice versa. They are relatively safe and fairly comfortable, and made up of a fleet of 44 seated air-conditioned coaches. The fare for each bus journey is quite affordable, which is RM15 per pax, depending on your pick-up station. The journey duration to and from the airport to the respective bus station may vary. However, the standard travel time is approximately 1 hour 15 minutes. Other than that, RapidKL buses provide services that travel around Klang Valley to KL city as well as feeder bus services to MRT, LRT and Monorail stations. There are special services as they offer free buses as well such as Go KL, Smart Selangor, PJ City and so on.

Taxi

3

Taxis are actually still available in Malaysia even though they are not commonly used these days as they are quite costly when compared to E-hailing services. Hence, most locals avoid using taxis due to their high rates and non-standardized transportation. If passengers have no other choice, then it is advisable to ask the taxi driver beforehand if they can use the provided meter to get to a specific destination in order to avoid high fares. The fare is usually RM3 for the first 1km, and RM0.20 will be added to the fare for every subsequent of 150 meters.

E- Hailing Service

4

In Malaysia nowadays, e-hailing services are among the most widely used modes of transportation. Due to its high reliability and accessibility through a user-friendly mobile app, the e-hailing service is frequently used by both locals and tourists, making it one of the quickest methods to go to a given place if there isn't a lot of traffic. The set prices that are published even before you make a reservation so that you can budget the exact amount are one of the finest reasons to utilise the e-hailing service, they are typically already insured by accident insurance. Nowadays, there are various applications that offer E-hailing services such as GraCar, AirAsia Ride, MyCar, InDriver, Kumpool and many more!

INTRODUCTION TO KUALA LUMPUR

Kuala Lumpur, the capital of Malaysia, is renowned for its magnificent skyscrapers and other exquisite examples of modern architecture. We all know that Malaysia has a diverse population, therefore KL city offers a variety of cultural attractions for you to explore. Malaysia's capital city, Kuala Lumpur, spans a territory of around 243 square kilometres. It is also regarded as one of the urban areas in Southeast Asia that is seeing both a significant increase in population and economic growth. At the moment, it is the ninth most visited city worldwide. Approximately 2.0 million people or 25% of Malaysia's total population, called Kuala Lumpur home as of 2021. From 2010 to 2020, Kuala Lumpur's annual population change climbed gradually by 2.2%. The city is situated at the confluence of the Gombak and Klang Rivers and is not far from Peninsular Malaysia's western coast. It is located 300 kilometres northwest of Singapore and roughly 40 kilometres east of the Strait of Malacca. In addition, it is situated in the state of Selangor's administrative centre.

Did you know that Kuala Lumpur's name in Malay means 'muddy estuary'? This is so because the Klang and Gombak rivers converge in KL City. The Federal Territory of Kuala Lumpur, one of Malaysia's three Federal Territories besides Putrajaya and Labuan, is situated along the state of Selangor's central west coast. KL has hosted many major sport, political and cultural events throughout the years, most notably the 1998 Commonwealth Games and the 2017 SEA Games.

Last but not least, Malaysia's Gross Domestic Product (GDP) increased 5.0% in the first quarter of 2022, supported by higher domestic demand, and is projected to increase by 320.00 USD billion by the end of 2022. The monthly economic performance from January to March 2022 demonstrated stronger growth. In January 2022, the GDP increased by 4.3%. In February and March 2022, it increased by 5.2% and 5.4%, respectively. According to the current state of the economy, the first quarter of 2022's economic performance outperformed the same period in 2019 by 5.2%, or RM17.9 billion.

10 FUN FACTS

1. Meaning of Kuala Lumpur

In Malay, Kuala Lumpur means “muddy confluence”; Kuala is the location of a river’s confluence or an estuary, and lumpur is “mud”. It is where the Gombak and Klang rivers meet. Before 87 Chinese tin miners rushed up the Klang River and established a settlement at the river’s muddy confluence in 1857, Kuala Lumpur had not yet been constructed. The name Kuala Lumpur was soon born from this.

4. Malaysian Government is in Putrajaya

The Malaysian Government is located in Putrajaya, instead of the capital city. Putrajaya is home to many government offices and it serves as the country’s administrative and judicial capital.

2. Parliamentary Democracy System

Malaysia is a constitutional monarchy that practises parliamentary democracy. The ruler of the country is His Majesty the King. The most significant institution in a nation that upholds democratic values is the parliament.

3. World’s Tallest Twin Towers is in KL

The Petronas Twin Towers are the world’s tallest twin towers until 2022. However, it is one of the tallest buildings in Malaysia until Merdeka 118 that had recently surpassed it.

5. The Malaysian King lives in KL at Istana Budaya

Istana Negara, also known as the National Palace, is the Yang di-Pertuan Agong’s official residence, and it is situated on Jalan Duta in Kuala Lumpur.

6. Yang di-Pertuan Agong is an Elected Monarch

Even though Malaysia does not have an absolute monarchy, the Conference of Rulers elects the Yang di-Pertuan Agong for a five-year term in a special rotational arrangement. The Conference of Rulers chooses the Agong from among the Malay rulers. The Third Schedule of the Constitution and the Regulations of the Conference of Rulers both clearly outline the process and procedure for the election.

8. KL Was the First Country in Asia to Host the Commonwealth

Kuala Lumpur in Malaysia served as the first Asian city to hold the games in 1998. The 2010 Games took place in Delhi and were staged in Asia once more.

7. Home To The Second Tallest Tower in the World

Do you know that the Merdeka 118 Tower is the second tallest building in the world? It is the new tallest building in Malaysia, with a height of 678.9 metres with 118 storeys. It is called Merdeka 118 as it has 118 floors in the building. The building is said to be opened in 2023. The design of the building was resembled and inspired by Tunku Abdul Rahman's outstretched hand gesture when he was chanting 'Merdeka!' during Malaysia's independence day.

9. Hosted the SEA Games in 2017

Kuala Lumpur was recognised for holding the 2017 Sea Games back in 2017. It not only elevated the nation's reputation but also became the leading medal total at the time.

10. KL is The Retail and Fashion Hub of Malaysia

Malaysia as a whole, is home to over 350 shopping malls and the shopping paradise is located in the bustling hub of Kuala Lumpur. Kuala Lumpur's shopping malls have a plethora of brands representing fashion, lifestyle, sports and home goods.

HISTORY OF KUALA LUMPUR

When tin miners went to the Klang river in Ampang to prospect the region for some miners, they took advantage of the dual valleys of the rivers Gombak and Klang and gave the area its name, which in Malay means “muddy confluence”. Thus, Kuala Lumpur’s name was created. Here is a look at Kuala Lumpur’s history in chronological order.

1857

87 tin miners searched the Kuala Lumpur region for rich tin supplies before discovering enormous reserves in Ampang.

1862

As Kuala Lumpur grew quickly, more miners from various locations arrived and settled there. Due to the population growth, there were numerous disputes and gang fights among the populace.

1869

New miners from other locations moved to the area and settled there as Kuala Lumpur started to grow quickly. There were numerous disputes and gang battles among the populace as a result of the population growth.

1880

Frank Sweetenham, a British envoy, had created a city plan to modernise Kuala Lumpur.

1887

Kuala Lumpur became the capital town in the state of Selangor.

1896

Following the union of the four state’s sultans, Kuala Lumpur was chosen as the Federated Malay State’s capital.

1910

The first train station in Kuala Lumpur was restored and created by Arthur Benison Hubback, the most productive and gifted British colonial architect.

The city came under Japanese occupancy during World War II.

1942

Kuala Lumpur then became the capital in the Federation of Malaya.

1946

Malaysia celebrated its Independence Day on August 31 and the British decided to leave the country after 151 years of administration.

1957

KL's population increased to roughly 500,000, and this brought with it its own unique set of administrative problems.

1960

Kuala Lumpur then became the capital city of Malaysia.

1963

There was a conflict between the Malay and Chinese which caused a full-fledged civil war to break out.

1969

Being given city status made Kuala Lumpur the first town in Malaysia to accomplish so following independence.

1972

Kuala Lumpur owned its status as Federal Territory with its own government for itself.

1974

Thanks to Dr. Mahathir, who served as prime minister at the time, Kuala Lumpur and the rest of the nation were modernised under his "Vision 2020" programme.

1981

Then Malaysia's federal administrative capital was relocated to Putrajaya.

5 TIPS EVERY TRAVELLER SHOULD KNOW BEFORE VISITING KUALA LUMPUR

1. Beware of scammers

When travelling in KL, it is advised to beware and don't be a scam victim. You should be extra careful on bogus calls and messages from unknown and suspicious numbers that are claiming to be from government services. These days, scammers often pose as real businesses and attempt to trick others into believing them, making others provide important information to these scammers. If you encounter any scamming syndicate, it is mandatory to report them by dialling 997.

2. Make sure taxi drivers switch on their taxi metres

It is required for taxi drivers to switch on their taxi metres by the time you start your journey. You are able to step out of the taxi and find another one if they refuse to do so. This is because charging a passenger without utilising the metre is prohibited.

3. Do not walk in dark alleys

Although KL is known for its happening night life, it can be quite sketchy in some areas. It is highly recommended to walk in groups and not be alone, especially in poorly lit streets. You do not want to be a victim of robbery!

4. Pack outfits that are suitable for hot weathers

The tropical part of Malaysia faces oppressive heat all year round with average temperatures of 30°C. You just really need to pack a pair of flip-flops and a pair of shoes to deal with some light, loose-fitting cotton apparel. To prepare for Malaysia's inclination to maintain the air conditioning at frigid venues, notably in buses, trains, and shopping malls, pack a hoodie or lightweight jacket as well. You should also be ready to pack an umbrella wherever you go because rain is quite unpredictable here.

5. Malaysia is a dazzling diverse country

Kuala Lumpur is multi-ethnic but primarily Islamic, with ethnic Chinese, Tamil Indians, and a dozen indigenous communities known as 'orang asli' residing there alongside ethnic Malay Muslims. This suggests that red lantern-adorned Chinese temples cohabit with mosques, churches, and Hindu temples. Bahasa Malaysia, Mandarin, and Tamil are the three principal

ICONIC LANDMARKS

Petronas Twin Towers

In Kuala Lumpur, there is an 88-storey skyscraper called the Petronas Twin Towers. It also goes by the name KLCC Twin Towers. From 1998 until 2004, when it was exceeded by other taller buildings in other nations, they were the tallest structures in the world. At 451.9 metres, it is still the tallest twin towers in the world. It continues to be a well-known landmark in Malaysia and is especially beautiful at night.

THE MALAYSIAN CULTURE

As we are all aware, Malaysia is a remarkable ethnically, linguistically, and religiously diverse country. The majority of each ethnic group's members have continued to practise their ancestral cultures.

As a result, a variety of ideas, values, and lifestyles are accepted in Malaysian society. The following material provides a general description of Malaysian culture, which tends to reflect the Malay majority, however there are important regional differences from this cultural mainstream across the country.

There are many different ethnic groups in Kuala Lumpur, including the three major ethnic groups of Malay, Chinese, and Indians as well as numerous more indigenous local races (including many Borneans that are currently in Peninsular Malaysia).

Today's culturally varied nation was created by the unique mingling of cultures from the immigrant communities that settles and intermarried locally. Without knowing and appreciating their rich legacy, a visit to Kuala Lumpur will fall short. So that you can learn more about how distinctive Malaysian culture is, we have included a section for you to read about the cultures and traditions that they practise.

By studying as much as you can about Malaysian's home country, ethnicity, and religion in advance, you can establish respectful connections with them. You can visit some of the cultural sites in Kuala Lumpur that we have shared with you. In Malaysia, especially in KL, there are a tonnes of cultural attractions.

GET TO KNOW THE PEOPLE

Malay

In this multi-ethnic nation, Malay culture has emerged as a dominant force. Other cultures have had a significant impact on Malay culture. Over half of Malaysia's population is made up of Malays. This group is frequently referred to as "Muslim Malay" because nearly all of them identify as Muslims. Since they are the most populous ethnic groupings, they dominate politics. In the nation's official language and religion, they are supreme (Islam). For instance, the majority of people are able to communicate to some degree in Malay, often known as Bahasa Malaysia. They also observe Hari Raya Aidilfitri, Hari Raya Qurban, Awal Muharam, Maulud Nabi, and Nisfu Sya'aban as cultural holidays.

Chinese

The second-largest ethnic group in Malaysia is Chinese, which accounts for 22.4% of the total population. The majority of them are descended from immigrants from Southern China who came to Malaysia in the early 19th and middle of the 20th centuries. Malaysian Chinese are the second-largest foreign Chinese population worldwide, behind Thai Chinese. They converse in a number of Chinese dialects, including Hokkien, Hainanese, Cantonese, and Hakka. Some of the most significant Chinese festivals in Malaysia include the Chinese New Year, Chap Goh Mei, and Moon Cake Festival.

Indian

After the Malays and the Chinese, Indians - including lesser ethnic groups like Malayalees, Telugus, Sikhs, and others - are currently the third-largest ethnic group in Malaysia. Indians first arrived in Malaysia in the 19th century, at a time when the British Empire was in power. Various other languages, including Tamil, Malayalam, Punjabi, Bengali, Pashto, and Sinhalese, are also spoken by them. Deepavali is the most colourful festival in Malaysia, where Hindus celebrate by tracing designs and figures on the ground and covering them with coloured rice.

Orang Asli

In Malaysia, the Orang Asli, a heterogeneous group of indigenous people, are regarded as the country's national minority. They were actually Peninsular Malaysia's initial settlers, and they usually inhabit areas that are forested or mountainous. There are actually many different groups and tribes among them, despite the fact that outsiders sometimes mistake them for being the continuous group. Each group and tribe has its own language, culture, and traditional area. They have historically been excluded from social, economic, and cultural affairs in addition to the above. The Orang Asli struggle to preserve their distinct culture and identity, which are intertwined with their immediate natural environment through territorial, spiritual, physical, economic, social, and cultural ties. This is similar to other indigenous communities.

CULTURAL FESTIVAL

Hari Raya Aidilfitri (Eid)

Muslims in Malaysia celebrate Hari Raya Aidilfitri, one of the well-known yet happy holidays. The holy month of Ramadan, which ends with Eid, is known for its fasting. Muslims will attend special prayers at the mosque on the first day of Eid. During this joyous holiday, Muslims would hold open houses where friends and family may come and visit them. The host would also prepare a feast for everyone to enjoy.

Hari Raya Haji

While Hari Raya Aidilfitri and Hari Raya Haji are relatively similar, Hari Raya Haji is distinct from other celebrations in Malaysia. This is due to the fact that Muslims would partake in religious activities such as sacrificial-slaughtering, or "korban", praying, and giving out food to the hungry and destitute during this customary feast.

Chinese New Year

The most significant Chinese celebration in Malaysia is Chinese New Year. The first day of the Chinese lunar calendar marks the beginning of this big cultural celebration, which lasts for 15 days. It ends at the Lantern Festival, also known as Chap Goh Meh. For prosperity, the Chinese would dress in crimson and distribute "ang pow" and mandarin oranges. At their Open Houses, friends and family would visit, and there would also be lion dance performances.

Deepavali

One of the most well-known holidays in Malaysia is Deepavali. Deepavali is sometimes referred to as "the Festival of Lights" since clay lamps may be seen lighting up homes during this time. During this festival, houses are decorated with vibrant paper lanterns and "kolam", which are ground designs and figures that were sketched before being covered in coloured rice. The main event of the celebration is visiting family members, along with sending wishes and treats.

Christmas

Christmas is a widely celebrated holiday both in Malaysia and throughout the world. One of the merriest festivals in Malaysia is this one, which honours the birth of Jesus Christ. Even though Malaysia does not observe the traditional "white Christmas", it is nevertheless regarded as one of the lively festivals during the month of December. Every retail centre in Malaysia has beautiful Christmas decorations that you may view.

Thaipusam

Thaipusam, which honours the victory of their Lord Muruga, is one of the most significant Tamil holidays in Malaysia. You can witness the big parade at Batu Caves throughout the course of the three-day festivities. Thousands of worshippers make their way to the temple to receive Lord Muruga's blessings as he is pulled in a silver chariot during the festival to the accompaniment of drums and singing. Dedicated followers are also often seen carrying "kavadis" that are fastened to their bodies with metal spikes.

Wesak Day

The Buddhists commemorate Wesak Day as a holiday. This commemorates May's Day of the Full Moon. This is done to honour the Buddha's birthday, which also serves as a reminder of the moment he attained enlightenment. It is also a time to reflect on his advice and what it means to be a Buddhist. Doves and tortoises were released during this occasion by Buddhists as a representation of the soul's release and forgiveness for past-life transgressions.

Mooncake Festival

Chinese people celebrate the Mooncake Festival, also known as the Mid-Autumn Festival, as a way of giving thanks to the moon goddess for a fruitful harvest. The major attractions of the ceremony, which promotes community unity, are colourful lanterns and mooncakes. It is regarded as one of the happiest celebrations held all around Malaysia. This event often takes place in September.

CULTURAL FESTIVAL

Kaamatan Harvest Festival

The largest ethnic group in Sabah, the Kadazan-Dusun, celebrates their native festival, the Kaamatan Harvest Festival. This festival honours the heavenly spirits and expresses gratitude for a prosperous harvest. The celebration will include sipping local rice wines called Tapai and Lihing as well as ethnic dance performances and other events. This festival is mostly celebrated in Sabah, however it is also celebrated by Sabahans who currently reside in Peninsular Malaysia.

Gawai Festival

A harvest festival, the Gawai Festival is also observed by Sarawak's native Dayak people. This event starts on June 1 and lasts through the end of the month. The traditional Dayak residence, which accommodates 40 families under one roof, is called a longhouse, where you may witness this event in all its splendour. The festival includes free-flowing rice wine called Tuak, traditional dances, and meals. While Sarawakians in Peninsular Malaysia can also participate in this festival, it is mostly observed in the state of Sarawak.

TRADITIONAL DANCE OF MALAYSIA

Tarian Piring

Tarian Piring, or "plate dance", is a quick dance in which performers balance plates on their palms. The movements resemble those of farmers who are working hard at harvesting. It concludes with a bridal prayer after the trampling of the plates, as it does at wedding occasions.

Bhangra

The Sikhs brought Bhangra, which originated in the Punjab region of India, to Malaysia in the 20th century. It was once a folk dance with a harvest motif that was performed by the ancestors; today, festivals, weddings, and other events often feature it. Boliyan, which are brief sets of songs that use the thol instrument, a massive drum, to retell incidents or stories from Punjab, are often the music to which bhangra is performed.

Dikir Barat

Dikir Barat combines poetry, dance, and music from the Malay culture. Dikir Barat is intended to impart knowledge to viewers, tackle pressing issues, and provide social criticism in a lighthearted or sarcastic manner. It is said that the Malay villages in Southern Thailand are where this dancing style first appeared. The words Barat and Dikir both mean "West" and "religious singing and chanting", respectively, in the native language.

Zapin

The most well-known Malay dance in Malaysia is the Zapin, which is particularly popular in Selangor, Johor and Penang. In the past, Zapin dances were mostly men, but nowadays, both men and women frequently appear on stage as Zapin dancers. These performers employ the violin, a double-sided hand drum called a marwas, and a short-necked lute called a gambus. Pairs do this dance, which varies from state to state.

Lion Dance

The most recognisable dance performed in Malaysia during Chinese New Year is the lion dance. A pair of dancers wearing lion costumes perform this dance. The dancer lifting the other while carrying the lion head high above the shoulders is the most common dance motion they perform. Gongs, cymbals, and tanggu (drums) are used to accompany the lion dance. The lion costume, which comes in a variety of vivid colours and is furnished with blinking eyes, is what gives the dance its dynamic motion to the beat.

TRADITIONAL ARTS & CRAFTS

Batik

An important part of Malay culture is the art of batik. Bright wax-resist colouring is applied to a simple piece of fabric to create batik. The most common patterns and designs utilised in batik are floral ones, such as flowers and leaves. These days, additional motifs like spirals and geometrical patterns are added to give it a more contemporary appearance. In Malaysia, this kind of art has become more distinctive throughout time.

Songket

Songket is a traditional handwoven cloth made in Sarawak and the Peninsular Malaysia by female weavers. The cloth was created using a decorative weaving method known as songket, which involves weaving gold and silver thread in between the base threads. As a result, the extra threads produce an aesthetic impression by appearing to float over a vibrantly woven background.

Tekak Embroidery

Simply referred to as "tekak", it is a form of traditional Malay couched embroidery that uses gold threads over a background of richly coloured velvet, typically maroon. This type of needlework has been a fundamental component of Malay culture for a long time, particularly in the state of Perak where it was initially a court art connected to royal regalia, palace ornamentation, and rites of passage.

Rattan Weaving

One of the oldest crafts that is still practised today is weaving using rattan. The source material is long cane, frequently 25 metres or more, from which a rattan stalk is created by peeling off the outer layer and drying it. The bark has a flexible, glossy, and strong appearance. Due to its suitability for furniture making and its compatibility with Malaysia's hot, humid tropical climate, it has become the most preferred option for residences there. Baskets, tables, rocking seats, and many other items are created by weaving rattan.

Keris

A distinctive and asymmetrical dagger with magical properties that can bring luck or bad luck, Keris, also known as Kris, is a common sight. During the early ages, it is believed to have served as both a weapon and a spiritual object. Today, nevertheless, it is a decorative piece for ceremonial attire that serves as a sign of social standing. Keris-making is, regrettably, a disappearing craft in Malaysia today.

Wau

The Wau kite comes in a variety of styles, each with their own particular size, shape, and pattern. The kites have eye-catching flower patterns and paper tassels to make them more appealing as they soar through the air. In the states of Kelantan, Terengganu, Kedah, and Perlis, it is a traditional craft.

PLACES OF WORSHIP

MUSLIM

Muslim

From the tenth and fifteenth centuries, Arab and Indian traders are merchants who first brought Islam to Malaysia. Then, Islam surpassed the Malacca Sultanate in the 15th century as the faith with the greatest number of adherents. Currently, Muslims make up about 63.5% of the population in Malaysia. The mosques that can be found in Kuala Lumpur are listed.

Masjid Negara

Kuala Lumpur is home to the 1963-built National Mosque of Malaysia. The mosque, which is still steadfastly standing on its grounds, is now seen as a key symbol of Malaysia, an Islamic country. Around 15,000 people may fit in the mosque, which is encircled by a 13-acre tract of lush greenery. The mosque's two primary features are its 73-meter-high minarets and its main concrete roof, which is designed like a 16-pointed star. The mosque's architecture transmits a number of meanings. For instance, the main roof was inspired by the image of an open umbrella, while the minarets were modelled after a folded umbrella.

BUDDHIST

Two thousand years ago, Indian traders brought Buddhism to Malaysia. The late 19th and early 20th centuries saw a revival of Buddhism in Malaysia thanks to immigration from China and Sri Lanka. Buddhism is now the second most popular religion in Malaysia, with 18.7% of the country's population identifying as Buddhist. Taoism or Confucianism may be incorporated by some Malaysian Buddhists into their beliefs and daily practices.

Thean Hou Temple

The Chinese sea goddess Mazu is honoured in a six-tiered temple named Thean Hou Temple. With views of Jalan Syed Putra, it is located in Kuala Lumpur on Lorong Bellamy, close to the top of Robson Heights. The temple was completed in 1987, and it received its official opening in 1989. The building is owned by and is under the care of the Selangor and Federal Territory Hainan Association. The Hainanese inhabitants of Malaysia built the temple. It is regarded as one of Southeast Asia's largest temples, and the surrounding area is beautiful.

PLACES OF WORSHIP

HINDU

Hinduism is the fourth-largest religion in Malaysia with 6.1% of the population practising it. Hinduism was brought to Malaysia by early Indian traders more than two millennia ago, just as Buddhism. The varied background of the Hindu migrant labourers who arrived in Malaysia have resulted in a variety of religious rituals that are inspired by numerous local symbols, deities, and traditions. This is seen in the various temple designs and the particular deities that are revered.

Sri Maha Mariamman Temple

The Sri Maha Mariamman Temple is the oldest Hindu temple in Kuala Lumpur, and it is situated on the outskirts of Chinatown. The temple was originally built in 1873 and reconstructed in 1968. The beautiful five-tiered "Raja Gopuram" tower is seen over the entryway. The temple is a must-visit attraction when you are in KL because it is filled with colourful and intriguing religious carvings and sculptures.

KL FOR KIDS

Everyone should travel to Kuala Lumpur, especially young children. The city of Kuala Lumpur offers a wide range of activities for kids of all ages. In KL, there are several attractions available that are designed exclusively for kids to enjoy while learning about culture. It is best to keep the kids entertained in KL while you take in the city's sights yourself. Consequently, we have compiled a list of notable cultural sites, family-friendly restaurants, shopping centres, festivals, and special events. There are many sights and activities in Kuala Lumpur, so it's important to determine which ones are appropriate for families before visiting.

Kuala Lumpur is undoubtedly one of Asia's most family-friendly cities and is simple to navigate with kids. There is a vast array of kid-friendly activities in KL city. Because most parents prioritise these features for their children's safety, KL's air-conditioned, paved walkways, and pedestrianised zones are perfect for toddlers or newborns in strollers. For most parents, it's crucial that their children have access to a wide range of educational opportunities that serve to extend their perspectives. This is due to the fact that parents frequently take their kids to entertaining and instructive settings that use interactive techniques to improve learning. By travelling to other locations while also educating the kids, the parents could accomplish two goals at once. In addition, choosing the top hotels in KL for families and those travelling with kids is advised. It is advisable to pick a hotel that will accommodate your family while you are there. This is due to the fact that many hotels and resorts offer rooms specifically dedicated for families because some rooms require a sufficient amount of space. Additionally, some hotels have areas designated specifically for kids' entertainment. Therefore, plan your family-friendly schedule right away and include a few of these locations.

SHOPPING IN KL

Nowadays, shopping plays a significant role in the tourism sector. The mission of the Secretariat Shopping Malaysia (SSM) is to market Malaysia as a top-notch shopping destination to both domestic and foreign tourists.

In the cosmopolitan Klang Valley, which includes KL City, there are approximately 190 retail malls, with more than 50 of those located in KL. Everybody should visit the shopping malls in Malaysia's capital city, where there are many different options available. Malaysian malls have evolved into social hubs, recreational spaces, and entertainment venues for a variety of activities in addition to being places to buy.

The people in Malaysia enjoy spending their time at shopping malls because they are the best places to roam around in the hot heat, especially when the malls are air-conditioned. A fantastic way to escape the oppressive tropical heat is to visit malls. Despite the fact that some people only intend to window shop at the mall, they do so. It has been demonstrated that visiting malls can boost our mood and happiness.

Most of the items in KL can be bought at an affordable price, hence local tourists and foreign tourists who visit KL will come with empty suitcases. At some places, you are able to haggle the price for certain items to get a lower deal. Don't forget to haggle and get the best price possible!

In addition, there are upscale shopping centres like Pavilion and Suria KLCC in the Bukit Bintang and KLCC districts, respectively. International luxury brands including Jimmy Choo, Louis Vuitton, Gucci, Balenciaga, and many more are available at these malls.

Other than shopping centres, KL is home to a large number of local markets where you may get fantastic discounts and uncommon things for a fair price. In KL, there are many markets, including bustling flea markets in addition to day and night markets. A list of shopping destinations in KL has been provided in this section for you to refer.

Baju Kebaya

The Baju Kebaya is traditionally worn by Malaysian women. The Kebaya is quite similar to the Baju Kurung, which is also the Malay women's traditional clothing. However, the Kebaya is a top that opens at the front and is typically made from thin materials like brocade, cotton, gauze, lace, or voile. Embroidery may also be used as decoration. Either buttons, pins, or brooches are used to fasten the front. The bottom part of the clothing, also known as the sarong is a long piece of fabric that is either made of batik or songket and is wrapped and tucked around the waist. Head over to Byhisdaisy HQ, also known as Kebaya Pario Specialist, and get your very own beautiful Baju Kebaya.

GASTRONOMIC DELIGHTS IN KL

Many first-time tourists to Malaysia were able to comprehend why this nation is likewise renowned for its cuisine. This country offers a superb gastronomic experience. Everywhere throughout the nation, one may find a variety of unique restaurants and food vendors. The Malaysian culinary sector has benefited greatly from the culturally diversified nation. As you can see, Malaysian food is very diverse and has been greatly impacted by traditional Malay, Chinese, and Indian cooking techniques. These influences include using a wok as the main cooking vessel and using a variety of spices in most of the meals. The wonderful flavour combinations employed in Malaysian cuisine, which combine textures, tastes, and colours with a wide range of ingredients.

The three main aspects of travel that offer the greatest possibility for discovery are the people, the scenery, and the cuisine. We would like to extend a warm welcome to tourists to Malaysia and genuinely hope that you would take the chance to enjoy a range of the local cuisines and return home with joy and delicious memories.

Because Malaysia is home to so many different ethnic groups, the cuisine there has its own unique flavour. Real Malay restaurants are conveniently located adjacent to a range of Chinese and Indian establishments. You should definitely sample all the delicious regional specialties that are unique in Malaysia!

Chicken Rice

The chicken rice is made up of fragrant rice, flavourful chicken, and soup as the side. Chicken rice is a dish made of tender, lightly-sauteed white chicken that has been poached and sliced into bite-sized pieces. The entree comes with a garlic-chilli dip and is garnished with coriander leaf springs, and sesame oil. In Malaysia, chicken rice can be found practically everywhere, from hawker stalls to fine dining establishments. This is a must-try dish when you are visiting Malaysia!

Ikan Bakar

Ikan Bakar means 'grilled fish' and it is a type of dish that is grilled using charcoal. This delicious dish can be found in Malaysia, Indonesia and various other Southeast Asian countries. It is one of the popular dishes in Malaysia as it is also a staple dish for all seafood lovers. Before being placed on the hot grill, the fish is wrapped in banana leaves and seasoned with a spice marinade.

MUST EATS IN KL

Satay

Satay is a famous Malaysian street food of seasoned, skewered and grilled meat that is served with peanut sauce dip. This dish is actually similar to kebabs but without the sliced vegetables. The satay uses juicy slices of marinated beef on thin bamboo skewers. Then, it is grilled to perfection on a charcoal open fire. You are able to use different types of meat of your choice such as chicken, beef, pork meat, and so on.

Hokkien Mee

Hokkien Mee is one of the popular noodle dishes in Southeast Asia, especially in Malaysia. This dish is a savoury dish with chewy noodles smothered in a sweet salty soy sauce with prawns, pork belly, cabbage, and gai-lan. For the halal version, the pork and lard is replaced with halal ingredients instead. This dish has an origin of China's Fujian province.

Chee Cheong Fun

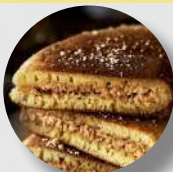

Chee Cheong Fun is a Cantonese dish made up of rice noodle roll. It is a thin roll packed with shrimp, meat, veggies, or other items and it is made up of shahe fen. This dish is mostly eaten with yong tau foo on the side and is drizzled with soy sauce, sesame seeds, and green onion. This dish can be easily found in any Chinese dim sum shops or at other hawker stalls.

MUST EATS IN KL

SNACKS

Apam Balik

Apam balik is known as one of Malaysia's favorite snacks. It is a sweet dessert with Chinese origins that is currently available in numerous types at any apam balik roadside stalls in Malaysia. It's a thick and fluffy pancake with many types of fillings such as sugar and butter, nestum, peanut butter, chocolate, sweet cream-style corn, and so on.

Cakoi

Cakoi is a common snack that Malaysians love. It is a long, golden-brown fried dough snack that is typically consumed with rice porridge, starch, or soybeans for breakfast or tea time. It can also be eaten with kaya pandan as the dip. You are able to find this snack in morning street markets or night markets. As the cakoi is usually deep fried, it is best to be eaten when it is still hot or warm.

Lekor

Keropok Lekor, a type of fish sausage, is a common fish cracker snack that originated in the state of Terengganu. It is prepared using fish and sago flour and is salted and sweetened. It has a slightly greyish colour and emits a fishy flavour and smell, which are more noticeable when it cools after being fried. This is often eaten during tea time or just as a snack. You are also able to eat this snack with cheese as well.

Rojak

Rojak is a mixture of fruits and vegetables that are sliced and served with a slightly spicy palm sugar dressing. It is one of the well-known snacks in Malaysia that you can easily find in food stalls or restaurants in Malaysia. Sometimes sambal belacan is added too. You are able to taste a fusion of spicy, sweet and salty flavors as you take your first bite. Rojak Penang is a well-known variation of the dish that is popular in Penang, Malaysia. It emphasizes the use of acidic fruits such as unripe mangoes and green apples while typically omitting bean sprouts and fried tofu puffs. The dish also includes jambu air, guava, squid fritters, and honey. In general, the rojak's sauce or dressing has a consistency that is nearly toffee-like and is extremely thick.

Murtabak

Murtabak is frequently characterised as a folded omelette pancake with bits of veggies. The most popular type of murtabak is formed from pan-fried crepes that are folded and cut into squares after being filled with minced meat, beaten eggs, leeks, chives, or green onions. In Malaysia, murtabak is typically eaten with curry or gravy, sliced cucumber, syrup-picked onions, or tomato sauce, and was originally sold in Indian Muslim restaurants and stalls. This snack is marketed all around Malaysia and has been adapted by Malay Muslim vendors as well, with numerous variations in ingredients and cooking methods.

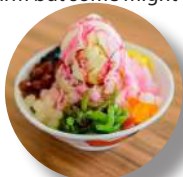

Ais Krim Malaysia

Ais Krim Malaysia is a Malaysian type of ice cream that is unique from the other ice creams. The name is to distinguish the difference between our own local ice cream and the ones adopted from other different countries. It is a popular ice cream among the school students as it is easy to be eaten and it comes with various different flavours. This ice cream uses special plastic bags for making the ice creams and it uses a funnel to pour the ice cream plastic bag. Then, the end is tied into a knot and try to freeze it overnight. Once it is frozen, just cut the top of the plastic bag and enjoy it directly from the plastic.

Tau Foo Fah

Tau Foo Fah is a sweet local dessert made of tofu that is favorable among Malaysians. It is a silky smooth tofu pudding that is infused with clear sweet syrup of either sugar or brown sugar. Walk along any night market and you will find a hawker stall that sells freshly made soy milk as well as this tau foo fah. It is often served warm but some might prefer it cold.

ABC

ABC, also known as Ais Kacang, is a popular Malaysian delicacy. It is made up of shaved ice, red beans, jelly, and sweet syrup. Some will also add fruits or sweet corn to the ABC for a more unique twist to it. Traditionally, an ice shaving machine, which was formerly hand-cranked but is now more commonly motorised, is used to churn out the shaved ice used in the dessert.

MUST EATS IN KL

DESSERTS

Puding Kelapa

Puding Kelapa means 'coconut pudding' and it is made of coconut milk, preferably fresh, and is thickened with agar agar and legal gelatin or wheat flour and cornstarch. It is sweetened, and desiccated coconuts may occasionally be used as a garnish. Depending on the preparation, the texture can range from silky springy (if gelatin and agar-agar are used as a setting agent) to creamy, only if wheat starch and maize starch are used to set the dessert.

Cendol

Cendol is an iced sweet treat that includes palm sugar syrup, coconut milk, and specks of green rice flour jelly. There are various other toppings that are available for your desired cendol as well. Some of them are durian, fermented sweet cassava (tapai), jackfruit, dragon fruit, chocolate syrup, and many more. Enjoy some cold sensation of the cendol as it is perfect to have during a scorching hot weather.

KL NIGHTLIFE

The thriving nightlife in KL offers a wide variety of activities. Despite being a Muslim country, Malaysia has a large alcohol industry and many establishments have happy hours.

Due to its reputation as a hub of activity at night, Kuala Lumpur city takes on a different image as dusk falls. KL has a lot of interesting places to visit at night because it has so many pubs, bars, clubs, and posh rooftop bars.

In Kuala Lumpur, late-night travellers are great admirers of rooftop bars. Around KL city, there are a lot of late-night hotspots that take place high above the streets, from upscale restaurants to cocktail lounges perched on tall buildings. As you can enjoy the spectacular view of KL from above, these rooftop pubs and clubs atop skyscrapers are among the greatest nightlife options in the city. The bars and pubs are the greatest places to go if you want to spend a relaxing evening with nice music.

Additionally, there are other clubs located across Kuala Lumpur. If you like to party, KL has a variety of clubs you can visit to make your stay in KL more enjoyable and thrilling. You may enjoy a variety of dance clubs and discos in KL, as well as clubs featuring live music. Other than that, the region around Changkat Bukit Bintang and TREC is home to a variety of bustling clubs and bars with a Western flair that draw young people and hard-partying audiences.

There are a lot of cocktail bars and late-night speakeasies in Bangsar's outskirts and close to the city centre, which creates a friendly ambiance. By 10PM, loud DJ dance music that is skillfully mixed fills the air in these locations until dawn. So, if you're looking for a nice place to hang out and have fun, here are some nightlife locations in KL that you simply must visit.

REST & RELAX IN KL

The act of relaxing is regarded as a way to release tension and revitalise the body and mind. Because relaxing is how our thoughts rejuvenate and can help us experience less arousal from stress or anxiety, resting is different from relaxing. This shows that while rest occurs when we are asleep, relaxation occurs while we are awake and involves us doing things we enjoy. Relaxation has been shown to improve our mood, cognitive skills like memory and decision-making, as well as lower the risk of getting depression, anxiety, and other heart-related issues.

Rest and relaxation go hand in hand, yet they are not mutually exclusive. Therefore, in order to maintain the highest levels of mental and physical health, it is imperative that we get enough rest and relaxation. It is advised to prioritise rest and relaxation, especially following a physically and emotionally tiring day.

If you are fatigued and in need of a pick-me-up, especially after a long day of travelling and shopping, a relaxing spa day is recognised to be the best option for you. So unwind and revive at these Kuala Lumpur spas and health facilities!

TYPES OF TRADITIONAL SPA TREATMENTS

Urutan Malaysia

The distinctive massage therapy known as “Urutan Malaysia” is based on the various ethnic groups of Malaysia’s healing customs. It’s a magnificent fusion of Marma points, Malay urut, Indian head massage, indigenous leg massage techniques, and Qigong therapy. Urutan Malaysia promises to give Malaysians a comprehensive wellness experience while also reviving, refreshing, and relaxing them.

Thai massage

Thai massage incorporates passive stretching, acupressure, and compressions. Your muscles, joints, and posture all benefit from these massages, which help increase range of motion. For people who experience back pain, this massage temporarily lessens your discomfort. In a traditional Thai massage, the therapist will typically massage your muscles by using their hands, thumbs, elbows, forearms, and occasionally even their feet.

Ayurvedic Massage

Ayurvedic massage is typically performed using medicinal herbal oils that have a variety of health advantages. The oils will permeate the skin throughout the massage, reach the tissues, and aid in hastening the healing process. In addition to helping with pain management, it also acts as preventive medicine by boosting circulation, energising and strengthening the lymphatic system, and allowing the passage of life energy to the body, which helps it to be cleansed and revitalised.

Traditional Chinese Massage

In contrast to deep tissue or sports massage, which focus on reducing knots and muscle tension by directing blood flow to specific areas, traditional Chinese massage techniques like acupuncture and herbal remedies aim to improve overall health by encouraging the movement of energy or Qi around the body. The acupuncture points on the body are stimulated by the masseur using their elbows, fingers, and hands. Nowadays, many people consider Chinese massage to be an additional or alternative method of treatment of a variety of ailments.

Balinese Massage

By combining gentle stretches, acupressure, reflexology, and aromatherapy, the Balinese Massage draws inspiration from the traditional medical systems of India, China, and Southeast Asia. It stimulates the movement of blood, oxygen, and energy (Qi) around your body and encourages profound relaxation. This massage is regarded as a comprehensive, deep-tissue, and full-body treatment. The aromas of essential oils are combined with a variety of Balinese massage techniques, including rolling, stroking, and stimulating pressure points on the skin.

MEDICAL TOURISM IN KL

People who travel overseas for medical treatment are referred to as medical tourists. Previously, this referred to patients who travelled from less developed nations to significant medical facilities in developed nations for treatment that wasn't offered there. However, because the cost of the service is lower abroad than in their home country, people have started to travel for the sole purpose of seeking medical counsel in recent years. Patients may encounter variations in treatment regimens, particularly in the accessibility of specific medications in a given nation, which may be related to the financial security of the local healthcare system.

According to certain reports, Malaysia has lower healthcare costs than many other nations. This is one of the reasons Malaysia is well-known for its medical tourism since the treatments are of excellent quality and are priced very affordably for each session. In fact, this nation receives hundreds of thousands of visitors each year seeking medical care and treatment.

The Malaysian healthcare system is a "two-tier healthcare system," with a tax-financed public healthcare system that coexists with a privatised healthcare system. Due to the government's huge network of public clinics and hospitals, which offers heavily subsidised healthcare for all inhabitants, Malaysia's healthcare system is regarded as one of the greatest systems in the world.

In addition, Malaysian doctors are highly qualified and competent, ensuring that their patients receive the best care possible. The majority of doctors always make sure their patients are comfortable during treatment since they will gently tend to their needs. Additionally, doctors are the profession that Malaysians trust the most. Therefore, if you want to improve your appearance or get medical advice, we have included a list of healthcare systems in Malaysia for you to visit.

ACCOMMODATION IN KL

Chalets to five-star hotels are available for guests to stay in Kuala Lumpur. In the city of Kuala Lumpur, there are many lodging options available, many of which are either next to beautiful scenery or reflected buildings. Today, many people offer their houses as lodgings for tourists; these are known as homestays or airbnb.

All visitors to Kuala Lumpur can have a comfortable stay, thanks to the city's affordable lodging rates. Each hotel or resort in KL offers a variety of accommodations, and the majority of their packages include breakfast.

In addition, KL is home to a large number of lodgings that appeal to travellers on a budget or locals on a vacation or business trip. There are several locations that offer a community space with arcades, a sports court, and other amenities. These are designed specifically for people who just want to relax and have fun indoors. Some places would also charge you less if you stayed for a longer time.

Check the hotels' websites for the most recent information as many hotels alter their rates daily based on occupancy. Nowadays, it is advised to book your stay in advance using specific applications or websites to acquire a somewhat lower price than the actual amount. These websites, such as Booking.com, Trivago, Traveloka, Agoda, and others, can be used to make hotel reservations. Use these websites to make your reservations for a stay in KL right away to skip the line and save time!

BEYOND KL - NORTHERN GEMS

Beyond KL City is home to various interesting locations which are must-visit destinations for those who want to venture beyond the hustle and bustle city of Kuala Lumpur. Wherever you are in Malaysia, you will find a variety of different towns and cities with their own unique cultures and traditions. Besides, each of them is bound to showcase the cultural diversity of Malaysia including various local delicacies.

In this issue, we will be sharing with you the Northern Gems of Peninsular Malaysia. Embark on a trip from KL to the north which passes through different districts in Perak to go to Penang. The districts in Perak, known for their great food and mountains with lush forests, are the best places to stop by on your way to the north. Explore the lovely gems of Perak as you travel all the way to visit Malaysia's prime melting pot, Penang!

We will be bringing you to venture out KL and stopping by different districts in Perak before heading to Penang. The districts that we are going to visit in Perak are Tanjung Malim, Bidor, Tapah, Ipoh, Kuala Kangsar, Taiping, and Lumut/Pangkor. After a wholesome visit to the state of Perak, then we will be going to the final destination which is Penang.

The lovely sites that are located beyond Kuala Lumpur are considered as must-visit sites for locals tourists as well as tourists from other parts of the world. Hence, we have prepared for you an itinerary for you to venture out of the hustle and bustle city of Kuala Lumpur.

Experience a memorable trip to these interesting places and see what else has nature bestowed upon these two lovely states in our 'Beyond KL: Northern Gems' section of our 43rd edition of KL The Guide.

ROUTE FROM KL - PERAK - PENANG

TRANSPORTATION

ROAD TRIP TOWARDS THE NORTHERN GEMS

In order to go on a trip to the Northern Gems, it is highly recommended to use a car as we are going to bring you for a fun road trip adventure towards the southern states beyond KL.

If you do not own a car, we highly recommend you to rent a car for a few days just to go around and explore the areas beyond Kuala Lumpur easily. This is because if you are planning to use E-hailings, the fare would be quite expensive per trip compared to renting a car.

Venture out of the hustle and bustle city of Kuala Lumpur and travel with us to the first destination, Tanjung Malim, which is Perak! To get to Tanjung Malim, you will need to use the North-South Expressway. For the second destination, from Tanjung Malim to Bidor you should use the North-South Expressway as well.

However, when heading to Tapah from Bidor, we encourage you to travel via Route 1 as it will only take 15 minutes and it is only 11.4 KM when compared to the route via North-South Expressway which is 17.8 KM.

Your journey from Tapah to Ipoh will take approximately 46 minutes via the North-South Expressway but do note that this route has tolls. Then, travelling from Ipoh to Kuala Kangsar will take around 48 minutes when you use the North-South Expressway.

Besides that, when going to Taiping from Kuala Kangsar, it will take approximately 41 minutes by using the North-South Expressway as well.

Then, leaving Taiping to head towards Lumut will take about 1 hour and 42 minutes via the Jalan Changkat Jering - Seri Manjung - Kampung Koh/ Route 60 to Lumut.

Lastly, going to Penang from Lumut would be about 2 hours and 42 minutes when you are using the North-South Expressway. However, by taking this route you will have to encounter tolls.

Once you have reached these interesting districts, most of the places that we have planned in your itinerary are quite close to each other. Hence, you don't have to drive that far from each location.

TANJUNG MALIM

Plan your trip to the Northern Gems beyond Kuala Lumpur by starting your journey to our first destination which is Tanjung Malim, Perak! An hour drive from Kuala Lumpur, this small town provides the perfect backdrop for a quick escape from the hustle and bustle of the city. As we have mentioned, you should take the North-South Expressway as it is only 80 KM from KL to Tanjung Malim.

Tanjung Malim, also known as Tanjong Malim, is a town in Perak, Malaysia's Muallim District. It is situated along the Sungai Bernam, a natural boundary between the states of Perak and Selangor. This district is synonymous with Proton City, which is located on the right side of the North-South Expressway between Tanjung Malim and Slim River.

Tanjung Malim is already renowned as an education town, but it also has the potential to develop into a more developed town in Southern Perak based on the current economic activities and industrial planning, including the automobile, agriculture, and manufacturing sectors.

Therefore, we have prepared for you a list of interesting places for you to visit when you are in Tanjung Malim.

MUST VISIT SPOTS

Taman Tasik Embayu Proton City

BIDOR

Continue your northern ventures beyond Kuala Lumpur from Tanjung Malim to Bidor! The journey from Tanjung Malim to Bidor will take approximately 45 minutes which is around 60 KM when you use the North-South Expressway.

Bidor is a countryside town with colonial shophouses that formerly filled the streets. This town was founded during British rule and is now adorned with satellite dishes and electrical poles. Bidor previously belonged to a mediaeval kingdom, as proven by the unearthing of ancient artefacts. Then, during Perak's legendary mining age, it developed into a significant river-based trading and transit hub for tin. As Japanese soldiers pushed down their ranks from Southern Thailand during World War II, Bidor was also a component of the British withdrawal route. The communist movement had another conflict shortly after the war was over. Therefore, we would like to share with you some interesting place to visit when you are in Bidor!

RECREATION & NATURE RETREATS

The Cedar@Bidor

The Cedar@Bidor is a bungalow lot that is situated on a hill. You may unwind in nature as it provides a tranquil haven away from the city. TAPAH

Continue your northern ventures beyond KL from Bidor to Tapah! The journey from Bidor to Tapah will take approximately 15 minutes which is only around 11KM via Route 1.

The name Tapah is claimed to have come from the name of a freshwater fish, Ikan Tapah. Wallago attu is the fish's scientific name. The name is said to have originated from a Malay Perak dialect term that means 'no worries', according to the locals. The Batang Padang River runs through this town. There are two major neighbouring towns nearby which are Kampar and Bidor. The famous and beautiful Lata Kinjang waterfall is located approximately 18 kilometres from Tapah. It's a magnificent waterfall where you can see the falls when you are using the North-South Expressway and vice versa.

Check out the list of places that we have prepared for you to explore the lovely town of Tapah!

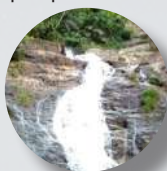

Kuala Woh Recreational Forest

Kuala Woh Recreational Forest is conveniently located 13 kilometres from the Tapah town. Those who appreciate the splendour of tropical forests flora and fauna must not miss this opportunity. IPOH

Continue your northern ventures beyond Kuala Lumpur from Tapah to Ipoh! The journey from Tapah to Ipoh will take approximately 47 minutes which is around 59 KM when you use the North-South Expressway.

Explore the capital city of the state of Perak's beautiful town of Ipoh. It is well-known for its variety of attractions including delectable cuisine, gorgeous locations, and breathtaking caves, and is sure to leave you with lifelong memories.

The downtown area is small and accessible by foot. The Town Hall, The High Court, and the Railway Station are all significant colonial era structures on one side that were constructed when Ipoh was one of the wealthiest cities in Malaysia, due to the tin mining that made it rich. Wide sidewalks and streets lined with trees can be found there as well. Whether you want to discover its fascinating history or enjoy its renowned local food as well as its natural beauty, this dynamic city has something for everyone.

Therefore, let us share with you some interesting places to visit when you are in Ipoh!

Resume your journey of our northern ventures beyond Kuala Lumpur to our next destination which is Kuala Kangsar! The journey from Ipoh to Kuala Kangsar will take around 49 minutes which is approximately 43 KM when you use the North-South Expressway.

Kuala Kangsar is known as the Royal Town of Perak. Kuala Kangsar is an adventure and expedition unlike any other, from its colonial past to its part in the well-known rubber industry, to its centuries-old woods and unmatched architecture. Due to its close ties to royalty and traditional values and the abundance of royal structure and tombs that are located there, Kuala Kangsar continues to be a significant place for Malaysians. Enter this cultural paradise to find delectable regional cuisine and the town's hidden beauties around every turn as you visit Kuala Kangsar.

Kuala Kangsar is studded with many attractions which have been known to lure travellers into this quaint town. Hence, check out the interesting places that we have shared with you to visit when you are in Kuala Kangsar!

Masjid Diraja Ubudiah Kuala Kangsar

Masjid Diraja Ubudiah, also known as The Ubudiah Mosque, stands out dramatically against the Kuala Kangsar scenery because of its gold and Italian marble domes. This gorgeous building is among Malaysia's most beautiful mosques. In 1913, Sultan Idris Murshidal Azam Shah gave the order to have it built after recovering from his sickness, but he tragically did not live to see it finished.

MUST VISIT SPOTS

Masjid Ihsaniah Iskandariah

Masjid Ihsaniah Iskandariah was constructed in 1936 with funding provided by Sultan Iskandar Shah, the Perak Sultan at the time. He was carrying out a commitment he had made to construct a mosque after one of his children had recovered. Some of the architectural details from his palace, Istana Kenangan, were integrated into the design. The mosque was in operation up until 1976, when it was abandoned and fell into ruin. It was repaired in 2008 by the Department of National Heritage.

Lata Perahu Water Park

Lata Perahu Water Park is located in Kampung Chuar Hulu, Kuala Kangsar. About 10 metres high, the waterfall offers a tranquil setting. Although it is not a particularly tall fall, it has a beautiful classical "horse-tail" design and a sizable water flow. There is a sizable area for swimming at the base of the waterfall. The location is cosy and well-kept, which makes picnics here even more enjoyable.

Address: Jln Lata Perahu, Kampung Chuar Hulu, 33020 Kuala Kangsar, Perak

Operating Hours: 8.00 am - 6.00 pm (Monday-Sunday)

Bukit Liman Hiking Track

Bukit Liman Hiking Track is a very great place for a hike along the beauty of nature. The view from the peak is incredibly fascinating. If you are lucky, you might catch a glimpse of the Liman Kati's region white carpet cloud, a cluster of fog that is more often known as such. You can easily access the tracks that are offers because you simply need to travel via the rubber garden pathways, which are primarily paved with cement and have a few dirt paths.

LUMUT & PANGKOR

Our northern travels beyond Kuala Lumpur will continue from Taiping to Lumut and Pangkor Island! The journey will take you around 1 hour and 46 minutes via Jalan Changkat Jering - Seri Manjung - Kampung Koh/ Route 60 from Taiping to Lumut. Then, from Lumut to Pangkor Island will only take 10 minutes by using a ferry and it will only cost RM7.

Lumut is a beach town in Manjung District and it is widely recognised for its hand-made coral and seashell products. Lumut is a Malay word that means moss, lichen or seaweed and it was initially given its name because it was believed to have a lot of moss. This picturesque location, which is tucked away on Malaysia's western coast and surrounded by verdant greenery, is the ideal setting for an amazing getaway. There are various opportunities to make amazing experiences when visiting Lumut, from relaxing on the beach to exploring centuries-old temples and dining on delicious local cuisine.

Other than that, Pangkor Island is renowned for having beaches including Teluk Nipah, Coral Bay, and Pasir Giam, which at low tide connects to the coral-ringed Giam Island. The 1670-era Dutch Fort, which is now destroyed, serves as a reminder of the island's strategic colonial significance. The Sacred Rock, which stands close, has engravings of a tiger robbing a child and the emblem of the Dutch East India Company. Discover a hidden gem that awaits your exploration – from sweeping panoramic views to secret coves populated with exotic wildlife, this tranquil paradise offers something unique for every traveller. So, we would like to share with you some intriguing locations you should check out while you are in Lumut and Pangkor Island!

MUST VISIT SPOTS

Teluk Batik Beach

The Teluk Batik Beach, which overlooks Pangkor Island, situated nearby the towns of Lumut and Sitiawan. It is an ideal place for getting away from the crowds because it is less congested than Pangkor Island and offers clear blue waters and smooth sandy shores. The headlands at either end of the bay, which is where the beach is located, rise majestically and are covered in greenery. Additionally, it is lined with various plants, including coconut palms, providing some shade and a tropical atmosphere.

PENANG

Continue your northern explorations beyond Kuala Lumpur to Penang, which is our final stop! The journey to Penang from Lumut will take you approximately 2 hours and 40 minutes via the North-South Expressway, which covers around 181 kilometres. Then, you will need to cross the famous Penang Bridge in order to reach the island.

Penang is an amazing city filled with culture, cuisine and nature. Its diverse cultural influences from all over the world have made it an amazing melting pot of experiences and flavours. Whether you're looking for historical landmarks to explore, local dishes to satisfy your palate or serene beaches to enjoy the sunset, Penang is definitely a must-visit city beyond KL. From dazzlingly modern shopping malls and vibrant nightlife to tranquil mountain trails and peaceful temples, Penang's endless attractions guarantee a memorable vacation getaway.

Penang is also a free trade zone as it is ideally situated on Peninsular Malaysia's northwest coast, making it a popular port for both eastbound and westbound ships. Apart from that, there are plenty of factories in their industrial park as well. You might be able to purchase some products at their factories for a cheaper price when you are there. Therefore, when you're visiting Penang, we would like to recommend some interesting places to you!

Penang Street Art

Penang Street Art is a series of colourful artworks and murals around the town. The Penang Municipal Council contracted Lithuanian artist Ernest Zacharevic to create a number of artworks throughout the municipality in 2012. Old residences and Chinese businesses needed to be revitalised, and they also wanted to highlight the area's rich heritage. Therefore, take a walk around the city and you will find various stunning artworks.

Minyak Buah Pala

Minyak Buah Pala is a nutmeg oil that is considered as a must-buy souvenir in Penang. There are also various nutmeg products such as creams, juices and so on. Various nutmeg products can be purchased at Ghee Hup Nutmeg Factory and you will get to see how nutmegs are processed when you are at the factory.

Tau Sar Piah

Tau Sar Piah is a ping-pong-ball-sized Chinese pastry that has crumbly sweet and savoury fillings as well as a flaky shell. This is one of the most famous local pastries which are made fresh daily with no added preservatives. You are able to purchase Tau Sar Piah at one of the oldest and iconic manufacturer in Penang called Ghee Hiang. Besides that, another famous pastry manufacturer that can be found in Penang is Him Heang.

Durian Dodol

Dodol is a sweet, toffee-like delicacy made from glutinous rice flour, gula Melaka, brown sugar, and coconut milk. Fresh durians are also added for the dodol durians. It is a palm-based treat. As you take a bite, it has a chewy texture, caramel-like and sticky texture as well as the taste of durian. In Penang, Ban Heang is where you can get your dodol durian.

Ghee Hiang Sesame Oil

Did you know that sesame oil brings amazing flavour to our food? The best sesame oil in Malaysia is unquestionably sold by Ghee Hiang. In fact, for more than 160 years, this has been and continues to be the brand's specialist product. Hence, it is highly recommended to purchase the sesame oil at their main branch if you are in Penang for a cheaper price.
